

POLES ENOUGH IN BRIDGE STREET

Says Miss A. B. Merrill—Refused to Sanction Plans Submitted by Wire Inspector

The members of the municipal council held a record breaking meeting this forenoon. The meeting, which was a special one, was called to order at 11:17 o'clock by Mayor O'Donnell, and it adjourned at 12:03 o'clock. All members were present with the exception of Com. Barrett.

The first matter brought to the attention of the city officials was a communication from Miss Addie B. Merrill, of 615 Bridge street, who says she received a visit from Mr. Mahan, inspector of wires, and that the latter endeavored to have her accept a proposed plan for the erection of a pole by the Bay State Street Railway Co. and the Lowell Electric Light Corp., opposite her home and that she refused to accept it. Miss Merrill is a remonstrant to the granting of the joint petition of the above companies for permission to erect poles in Bridge street. The communication was referred to the commissioners of public property and licenses, and streets and highways.

The fourth report of Auditor Arthur W. De Grouch relative to the claims of the water department for expenses incurred in the abolition of several grade crossings in this city, was read.

FREE FOR ALL IN WILLIAMS STREET

Settled in Police Court—George Surly's Assailants Beat Him With a Fence Picket

A Williams street free-for-all occupied the greater portion of Judge Enright's time, and attention at this morning's session of the police court. The fight occurred in the wee small hours, two o'clock being the time agreed upon by the majority of the witnesses.

George Tworack and John Marouski were the names of the defendants and they were both charged with assault and battery upon George Surly. It was upwards of an hour before Attorney Silverstein finished a tedious cross-examination of the witnesses for the government and completed his own case. Dennis J. Murphy appeared as counsel for the prosecution. Dr. Murphy was the first witness called by the prosecution and he told the court that he had attended the complainant and dressed his wounds. There was one wound on his forearm, said the physician, which might have been made by a nail and another on his finger which looked as though it had been industriously chewed by someone's teeth. Surly also had a bruise over his eye which was discolored.

Used Fence Picket
The complainant himself next took the stand. He testified that he was used by the defendants to beat him with a fence picket.

LARCENY FROM BOSTON BANK

Is Charge Against Jacob Watchmaker, a Note-broker

Was Arrested at His Home in Chelsea Early Today

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Jacob Watchmaker, a notebroker with an office on Hanover street, this city, was arrested at his home in Chelsea early today on a technical charge of larceny of $500 from the Broadway National bank of Chelsea. The warrant for Watchmaker's arrest was issued at the request of Percy Moses, cashier of the bank.

The specific charge against Watchmaker alleges that in January he obtained $500 from the bank on a note in the giving of which he is charged with making false statements regarding his assets and liabilities. Neither police or bank officials would discuss the case this morning further than to say a number of other similar charges involving a great amount of money will be investigated.

Held in $10,000
Judge Cutler placed the bail at $10,000 and without requiring the defendant to plead to the complaint, continued the case until Aug. 20th to give the authorities time in which to investigate the alleged irregularities.

WISE PROVISION

An old adage says "It's a wise man who knows enough to carry an umbrella when it doesn't rain." Still another somewhat metaphorically remarked that it is a wise man who knows whose umbrella he carries.

But to be more practical, let us state that it is a wise man who knows enough to have a cure at hand before sickness comes. At this season of the year there is no better remedy with which to provide yourself than a bottle of Miss Rockey went down in sight of 500 people, nearly all of whom were men. Because of the rough sea they were afraid to venture into the breakers and it was not until Rufus Bradley, colored, of this city appeared that an attempt at rescue was made. Bradley fully clothed plunged into the ocean. His effort was fruitless and he nearly perished himself.

FOSS PLANS NOT CHANGED

No Matter What McCall Does, Governor Says He'll Stick

Benton Declares He Will Remain and Lick McCall If He Runs

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—With Benton in the race, McCall almost in and Foss keeping everybody guessing, the republican gubernatorial situation is more complicated than ever. Yesterday Representative Channing Cox of Boston and ex-Representative Edwin A. Bayley of Lexington started a set of nomination papers for ex-Congressman Samuel W. McCall. Cox is the titular leader of the republicans in the legislature. Bayley was defeated by Roger Sherman Hoar for the senate a few years ago.

Bayley swooped down on republican headquarters yesterday afternoon, and in loud tones demanded that the republican leaders give the republicans opposed to "the cold-storage candidate," as he termed Col. Benton, a chance to vote for a real live republican who would save the party from third place.

Cox, backed by Speaker Cushing and Representative Barnes of Mansfield, has been pushing the McCall boom for several days, but did not come out in the open until yesterday. Even then all three disclaimed that they had an assurance from Mr. McCall that he would enter the primaries against Benton.

Col. Benton said that if Mr. McCall entered the contest he would be surprised as he had been counting on McCall as one of his backers in the governorship contest.

Whether McCall goes in or not, Col. Benton says it will make no difference to him. "I shall stick until the last vote is counted," said he yesterday. "Of course, I don't want to see my good old friend Sam McCall go into this thing," he added, "but if he does I'll have to take off my coat and lick him."

Gov. Foss said yesterday that no matter what McCall does it will make no difference in his plans. His right hand political man, George M. Harlow, insists that the governor will run and ventured the opinion last night that McCall would not run.

Mr. McCall came to town yesterday intending to go to New York on the 1 p. m. train, but the politicians besieged his office and kept coming until after lunch and he had to abandon his plan of taking the midday train. He left on the 2 p. m. and will be back in a day or two.

FOSS PAPERS TORN UP

Mitchell Makes Valuable Effort to Secure Names in Brockton and Finally Quits in Disgrace

BROCKTON, Aug. 8.—Nomination papers for Gov. Foss as a republican candidate for governor, reached this city Wednesday, and yesterday were torn up and tossed into a waste paper basket in an office in the Barister building because no one was found to sign them.

The papers came to Jacob Oppenheim from Judge Simon Swig of Taunton. Mr. Oppenheim, however, is a democrat and is a member of the democratic city committee. He said he couldn't consistently circulate the papers, and turned them over to Morris Shapira, a member of the republican city committee.

Mr. Shapira has no particular love for Gov. Foss, he says, so he gave the papers to Max Mitchell of 533 Crescent street a medical student. Mitchell tried to get some signatures among the Hebrew voters, but returned without a name, and in disgust tore the papers and tossed them into a basket.

HUBBY OLD FASHIONED

Wife Says He Wanted More Than One Baby

SHE MUST LIVE WITH HIM, RULES COURT

Says He Failed to Provide Her With Funds to Buy Silk Skirt and Other Things

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Clara Briner Tousey, who her husband, Dr. Ralph Tousey, of 160 West Seventy-seventh street, says, has new woman ideas of wifehood, must live with her "old-fashioned husband" according to a decision of Supreme Court Justice Guy yesterday in the suit by the wife for separation.

The justice found the case without merit and gave the custody of Ralph, Jr., 3 years old, to the father. Boiled down to a few words, Mrs. Tousey's long list of grievances against her husband is:

He has old-fashioned ideas and wants more than one baby.

He did not give her his undivided time and attention regardless of business demands.

He failed to provide her with sufficient funds with which to purchase silk gowns and other things the feminine heart holds dear.

The doctor has declared that he expects a wife to be a housewife, a mother of children, a helpmate and not too extravagant.

The doctor has an income of at least $10,000 a year, according to Mrs. Tousey, and will inherit $100,000 on the death of his mother.

Mrs. Tousey's shopping trips have cost him, the doctor says, in four years more than $11,900 above his income.

The Touseys were married in New York on Sept. 11, 1902, and their son Ralph was born Aug. 4, 1910. After their marriage they lived at 43 West Eighty-third street, a house which the doctor sold recently for $10,500.

Man Who Sought Watery Grave Decided That Life Was Worth Living After All

A man named Andre Langlois, 27 Ward street, was taken from the canal near Perkins street shortly after 9 o'clock last night after attempting to commit suicide.

It was stated by witnesses of the act that the man while walking down the dark street suddenly jumped over the fence and into the water. After realizing that the water was uncomfortable he shouted for help and his cries attracted a number of people who immediately set out to rescue the drowning man. Officer Joseph Lamoureux appeared on the scene and with the help of some of the young men in the vicinity succeeded in bringing Andre to shore.

The man was unconscious when taken from the water and the ambulance was summoned. He was taken to the Lowell hospital, where he was revived and later removed to his home.

ENGLAND'S KING OFFERS CUP

Eight Yachts Hoisted Sail for Race at Newport Today

Commodore Plant Retires From Race Owning to Death of Wife

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 8.—Eight yachts, seven single stickers and one schooner, hoisted sail today for the annual race for the cup offered by the king of England.

The entries included six of the New York knockabout sloops, the Barbara, Acushla, Grayling, Sparter, Pielons and Iroquois, the sloop Avenger and the schooner Irelita.

Great regret was expressed at the retirement of the schooner Elena and at the loss sustained by her owner, Commodore Morton F. Plant, in the death yesterday of his wife. The Elena has been a consistent racer in the cruises of the New York and Eastern Yacht clubs during the past three years and has won nearly every event in which she started. It was Commodore Plant's fond desire to complete the record by capturing the king's cup. The Elena left for New London shortly after morning colors.

Weather conditions for racing were an improvement on yesterday. There was a moderate northeast breeze that helped the yachts out to the start at the Brenton Reef lights and gave promise of increasing later in the day. There was some fog off shore early in the day but it was soon burned off by the sun.

The second race for the cup presented by King George of England and the eighth in the series of king's cup races was participated in by boats of the New York Yacht club today.

Cup by the late King Edward

The original cup, the gift of the late King Edward VII, an honorary member of the New York organization, was one of the most valuable trophies ever presented to the club. Its intrinsic worth in metal was $500 but from an artistic standpoint its value was even greater. The only condition imposed by King Edward when he gave the cup in 1904 was that it should be raced for yearly by yachts of any yacht club in the country over 50 feet on the water line, sloops, schooners and yawls sailing in one class.

The club decided to make the race an honorary event so far as the prize was concerned. The first race was won by the sloop Effort, owned by F. M. Smith of San Francisco and sailed by Addison D. Hanna of New York. The Effort finished nearly half an hour behind the new schooner Queen, which J. Rogers Maxwell had built expressly to win the first king's cup race but with her time allowance the smaller yacht won by a margin of nine seconds. Two years before Captain Hanna defeated Captain Rogers in a similar yachting duel, when the little 45 foot sloop Aspirant captured the Astor cup from the 75 foot sloop Yankee by 26 seconds, after being beaten by as many minutes in elapsed time.

Happy Assembly Applaud Speakers--The Former Schoolmates Gather at Festive Board

Never in the history of St. Joseph's college was its assembly hall so beautifully decorated as it was last night, when the closing exercises of the second annual reunion of St. Joseph's college alumni were held. The affair consisted of a banquet attended by nearly four hundred young men, many of whom had come from other states to meet their former school mates. Although last year's event was conducted on a grand scale, this year's success is by far greater than that obtained at the first reunion. Previous to the banquet the election of officers was held for the ensuing year, and but few changes were made. This was followed by a dainty dinner and numerous speeches, the speakers being Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. L., Rev. A. L. Nolin, O. M. L., Rev. Henri Achin, Jr., Mayor James E. O'Donnell, Rev. L. C. Bedard, Rev. Bro. Priscillanus, S. M., Rev. Bro. Sylvain, S. M., and Rev. Bro. Leon Bernardin, S. M. At the conclusion of the meal the installation of the new board of officers took place.

Shortly before eight o'clock the alumni gathered in the large hall where the men of the D. L. Page company were busy preparing the tables. A short reception was held in the large corridor leading to the main hall, where the many guests were introduced to the visitors and guests of honor. Upon entering the hall one saw the prettiest decorations that have been seen in a banquet hall. The stage was surrounded with a wide streamer of Yale blue, the school color, while in the background was a woodland scene. The footlights were decorated with miniature pine which were ornamented with tiny American flags. At each side of the stage was a large framed picture of Rev. Bro. Chrysostom, S. M., first director of the college, and Rev. Bro. Priscillanus, S. M., second director. The upper part of the stage was draped in American flags with Old Glory festoons at each end, and here and there in the hall were numerous artistic signs bearing the motto of the college, "Non Nobis Solum." Several other inscriptions.

The hall was decorated with a double band of white and Yale blue bunting which was caught at short intervals with maiden hair ferns. Four banners of red, white and blue projected from the corners of the hall and were caught up in the centre with a festoon of daisies in which was intermingled greenery and foliage. The exterior of the building was also prettily decorated. Those who had charge of the splendid decorations were Messrs. Arthur J. Lovell and Arthur J. Simard, of the A. G. Pollard Co., and they were highly complimented for their superb work.

Election of Officers

At 5:15 o'clock the president of the alumni, Wolfred P. Caisse, Jr., stepped to the front and announced that the election of officers would take place. His name was again presented for president, but Mr. Caisse declined to take the reins once more, but the pressure from the many members was so strong that Mr. Caisse finally accepted and was unanimously elected to the chair. Mr. Henri V. Charbonneau, vice president, declined the honor of another term, and his successor is John B. Richard. Joseph F. Montminy was re-elected treasurer. E. J. Laroche, who has been secretary of the association for two terms, declined a third term and the choice fell on Arthur Giroux of "Le Equilibré." Wilmer Draxton of the Courier-Citizen was elected assistant secretary, while the board of directors consists of the following: Rodrick L. Jodoin, Eugene G. Richard, Arthur Lamoureux, Isidore Trudel and Sam S. Parent. A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring officers for their faithful services.

At the close of the election Mayor O'Donnell arrived in the banquet hall, and he was given a warm reception including three cheers and a threefold hurrah. President Caisse acted as toastmaster, and after an address of welcome he introduced the various speakers. In the course of his remarks Mr. Caisse referred to the absentees, and said he hoped that every one will be present at the next reunion. He introduced as the first speaker, Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. L., pastor of St. Joseph's, who spoke on "The Parish." The reverend gentlemen complimented the executive committee for the result of the event, and then spoke at length on the duties of the parish, the oldest French parish in the city. He closed by saying: "His services were at the disposition of the members, whenever needed, and wished the alumni long life and prosperity."

The next speaker was Rev. L. A. Nolin, who spoke interestingly on "Canada." The speaker paid a flattering compliment to the mayor of Lowell before reaching his subject. Fr. Nolin, who is well known as a good public orator. At the close of his speech, the alumni quartet composed of Messrs. W. P. Caisse, Jr., Ernest J. Dupont, Leo G. Morin and E. J. Laroche, sang "Salut O Canada," words by Rev. L. A. Nolin and music by A. Champagne, both of Lowell.

Representative Achin

In response to the toast "Commonwealth of Massachusetts," Representative Henri Achin, Jr., paid a high tribute to the old Bay state from the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth to the coming here of the first French Canadians in the year 1869. To do full justice to this toast, he said, "It would be necessary to open the pages of American history which is rich with heroic and accomplished deeds of Massachusetts men. You owe it to yourselves and to our commonwealth to continue the work of our ancestors. Commercially, in the ownership of real estate, religiously and socially the French American citizens have reason to be proud in Massachusetts." He concluded by inviting greater interest in the affairs of the commonwealth, its opportunities and its institutions.

Rev. L. C. Bedard, curate at St. Louis church was next introduced and his subject was "Christian Education." The young clergyman spoke at length on the necessity of sending the children to the parochial schools, and also spoke on their merits. He told of the moral good derived from these institutions, and also spoke of the prominent citizens these schools have furnished to the country.

Mayor O'Donnell

Mayor O'Donnell was the next speaker. He said in part:

"I deem it a great honor to be privileged to speak for the city of Lowell before an audience composed of the sons of French Canadians, sons of immigrants of a generation ago who by their native ability, indomitable pluck, perseverance, sturdy honesty and unflinching faith have given to this country some of her most illustrious sons, and most desirable citizens. To respond properly to the toast, 'The City of Lowell,' it would be necessary to revert to the early days of our city when the original French-Canadian settlers established their humble dwellings, then erected a shrine at which to worship God and within its shadow, a school for the education of their children, and to trace their growth in numbers and influence through the long and zealous pastorate of Fr. Garin of sainted memory, down to the present, when they comprise one-fourth of our entire population. Their progress forms a bright page in Lowell's history with which you are all familiar, and hence I shall not trespass upon the time of the other gentlemen who are to speak by reviewing it. From the time it has been the same, whenever and wherever the French have branched out into new sections, a church and a school have arisen simultaneously, and not even a disastrous conflagration has ever impeded their progress."

One year ago, on the occasion of the first gathering of this association, I quoted some interesting figures showing the amount of money saved to the educational department of the city of Lowell by the maintenance of this school. Another successful year has passed and St. Joseph's has now attained its forty-second year of good work. During its long history tens of thousands of young men, who upon growing to manhood have become citizens of Lowell and who have been a credit to their city and their alma mater. Graduates of this school by the hundreds have made themselves prominent in the daily life of the community and it must be a matter of deep gratification tonight to the reverend brother, who opened the school, to look around and realize the truth of the old adage, "Great oaks from little acorns grow." Gentlemen, it is not necessary for me to tell you that the city of Lowell appreciates her French-American constituency. That fact is apparent to all who live and do business in Lowell. You do well to honor your alma mater and may each succeeding year bring new members to your fold and greater honors and success to this grand institution within whose sheltering walls you were so carefully nurtured to engage in life's great battle."

France the Toast

Rev. Bro. Priscillanus, S. M., of Quebec, responded to the toast "France," and when he arose to speak he was given an ovation that made his heart feel good. The alumni warmly applauded him and it was several minutes before the beloved brother was able to speak. He delivered a very interesting address on "France," and his remarks were warmly received. Other speakers were Rev. Bro. Sylvain, S. M., of Manchester, N. H., who gave interesting statistics concerning the Marist order, and Rev. Bro. Leon Bernardin, director of the college, who spoke on the work of the alumni since it was organized. As a closing number Rev. L. A. Nolin, O. M. L., read several verses of poetry entitled "Non Nobis Solum," and dedicated by him to the alumni.

As a whole the affair was a grand success and reflects much credit on the executive committee, especially upon Messrs. Edmond S. Desmarais and Rodrick L. Jodoin, whose work was very commendable. The various committees in charge of the arrangements were as follows:

European Farm Methods

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Senator Fletcher of Florida today accepted an invitation for the house of governors to attend his meeting at Colorado Springs, Col., Oct. 6 on the result of the investigation into European farm methods made by the American commission which returned recently from a tour of Europe. He will present at the meeting the preliminary report of the commission. The report then will be printed and sent to all agricultural institutions and farmers' organizations.

WANT AMERICAN

Athletic Mission Left Berlin Today to Come to This Country for Athletic Advisor

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—An athletic mission left here for America today with the determination to secure the services of A. C. Kraenzlein, the famous German-American athlete as athletic adviser and trainer for the German track team under preparation for the Olympic games to be held here in 1916.

If Kraenzlein be not available the members of the German mission intend to engage some other American, if possible, a trainer from the American Athletic club of New York.

WOMEN VISIT PREMIER

The Non-Militants Intervued Asquith

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Premier Asquith gave cold comfort today to Mrs. Millicent Fawcett, the president of the National Union of Women Suffrage societies and her non-militant colleagues when they interviewed him in his official residence in Downing street and urged him to bring in a government measure bestowing the franchise on women. The premier complimented his visitors on their constitutional method, which, he said, "were such a welcome contrast to the criminal proceedings of the militant suffragettes." He, however, declared that he had undergone no change of heart in the matter and there could be no question of the government undertaking the desired measure during the present parliament.

LIND UNDESIRABLE IN MEXICO

Sec. Bryan Announced Contents of Message Received From the Minister of Foreign Affairs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—After a conference with President Wilson at the White House early today, Secretary Bryan announced he had received a message from Manuel Garcia Adalpe, acting minister of foreign affairs, declaring on behalf of President Huerta that the presence of John Lind would be undesirable in Mexico unless he brought recognition of the Huerta government.

Mr. Bryan said there was no change in plan with respect to Mr. Lind's mission. He declined to say what the nature of the American government's reply to the Adalpe message would be.

Secretary Bryan said that the message had been transmitted through the American embassy at Mexico City, had been translated during the night and was presented early today to President Wilson. The president had taken the position that it was incredible, the Huerta government would refuse to receive an envoy bound on a peaceful mission. Receipt of today's message brought the situation to a diplomatic crisis.

No information was forthcoming after the conference as to what the next step in the policy of the government would be, but it was considered more than likely that the message of reply to the acting minister of foreign affairs would further outline the friendly intentions of the United States, which would be expressed by Mr. Lind and probably would suggest that judgment be withheld concerning Mr. Lind's mission until he had had an opportunity through the American embassy at Mexico City to transmit the views of President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

MEXICAN SITUATION GRAVE—HUERTA REGIME

THREATENS TO REBUFF LIND ON MISSION OF PEACE

GENERAL CARRANZA, LEADER OF MEXICAN REBELS, AND STAFF

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The American government last night was confronted by what official Washington regarded as the most delicate situation in its relations with Mexico that has yet developed since armed revolution disturbed the peace of the southern republic.

The threatened rebuff from the Huerta administration to the mission of the Hon. John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson en route to Mexico City to expound the hopes of the United States for a suspension of hostilities and an orderly constitutional election in Mexico, drew from Senator Bacon, chairman of the foreign relations committee, a declaration on the floor of the senate yesterday that the present situation was "the gravest in years, much graver than confronted us when the Cuban question was here."

The president realizes the gravity of the situation, and manifested during the day his displeasure at the attitude of some members of the minority party in congress, telling callers that he believed certain republicans were making it difficult for him to handle the situation in a peaceful manner. On this account Mr. Wilson justified last night, the strong and emphatic language of Senator Bacon, who, during the debate in the senate on the resolution of Senator Clark of Wisconsin, republican, demanding a general investigation of Mexican affairs, had referred to the resolution as openly "disrespectful" and "flouting in the face of the president," while the latter was endeavoring to put into effect a peace policy. The resolution was finally forced off the day's calendar.

President Wilson was unmoved by advisers from Mexico denouncing the Huerta government as inimical to Mr. Lind's mission. He let it be known, too, that so far as he was able to learn there was not the slightest demand from the American people for intervention and declined to discuss alternatives that might be used in event that the efforts of the American government to help restore peace in Mexico were rejected.

The president is confidently hopeful that a peaceable solution of the Mexican trouble can be effected. He made it plain to callers that until advised officially to the contrary he would continue to regard as incredible the statements issued on behalf of President Huerta declaring Mr. Lind's presence in Mexico undesirable. While there is little disposition to doubt the veracity of the news despatches describing the attitude of the Huerta government toward Lind, there is a hope among other administration officials that upon mature reflection such intimations will be formally conveyed to the Washington authorities.

THE AMERICAN BANKERS

To Hold Conference on Currency Bill

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the Chase National bank directorate, acting as chairman of the currency committee of the American Bankers' association, has called a meeting of the bankers of the country for action on the currency bill. It promises to be the most important conference the association has ever had. The calling of the conference is nominally made dependent upon whether or not the democratic caucus of the house of representatives on August 11 decides to proceed with the present bill. It is practically assured, however, that the conference will be held, as bankers feel certain that the caucus will support the administration measure.

SENDS FLOWER SEEDS

Cong. Rogers Remembers Park Dept.

The following letter from Congressman Rogers to John W. Kernan, superintendent of parks, is self-explanatory:

August 2, 1913.
Mr. John W. Kernan, Engineer and Supt. of Parks, Lowell, Mass.
Dear Mr. Kernan: I am just in receipt of your letter of the 31st ult. in which you state that if I could supply you with seeds, "which would help the park department of Lowell," (being badly crippled for funds), I would be very grateful to you.

By great good fortune I am able to send you a mail bag full of flower seeds. While I do not know that you are destitute in respect to this particular line of seeds, I trust that you may be able to make use of them and that they will help you out to some extent at least, in your impoverished condition.

Cordially yours,
John Jacob Rogers.

had been a highly profitable one for the cadets.

The cadets will be given a month's leave of absence when they return to Annapolis.

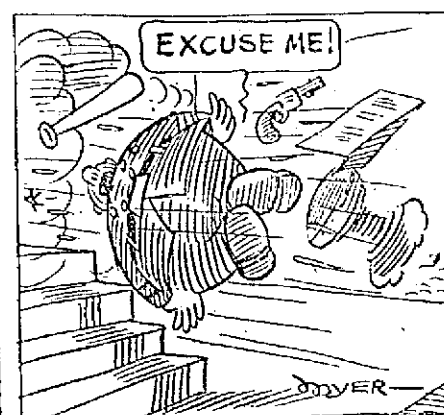

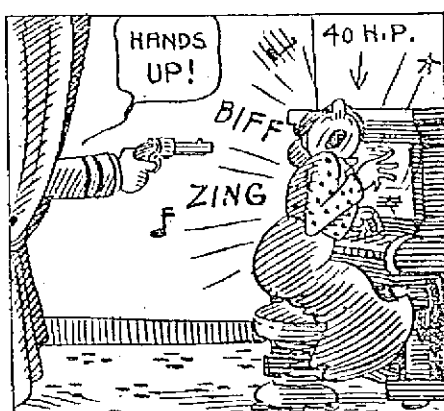

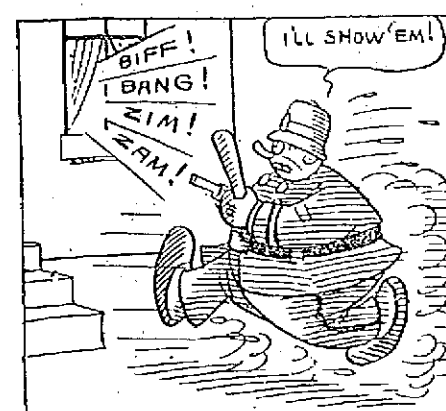

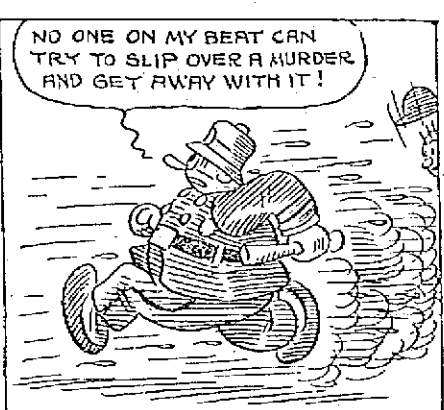

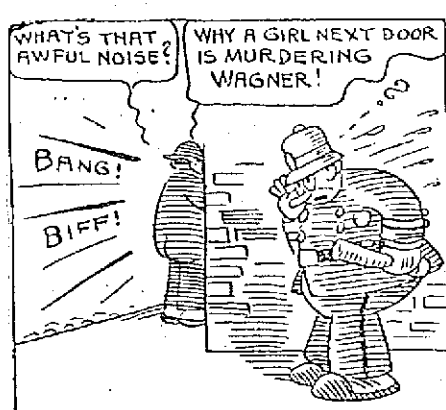

WASHED NOTES

Bureau of Chemistry Reports That Process Has Been Very Successful—Good As New

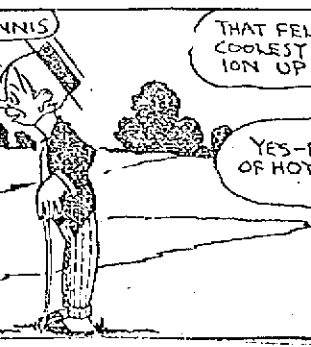

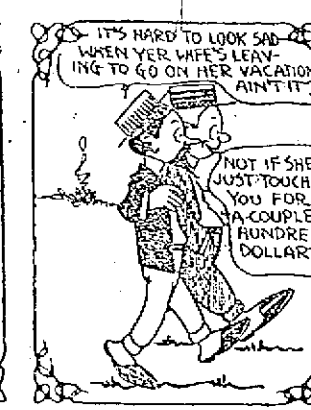

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Laundried money is just as clean as new bills only a short time out of the printers' hand, according to the bureau of chemistry, which reported today to United States Treasurer Burke the results of a recent chemical analysis of the washed notes. The analysis disclosed only a slight difference in the appearance of the washed and unwashed bills.

The report says that the washed bills are lengthened slightly by the laundrying process, but that neither the brilliancy of the ink nor the engraved surface is affected.

CLOSE OF KNIGHTS CONVENTION

Reception and Ball Tendered

Delegates -- Next Convention Will be Held in St. Paul

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—No more brilliant climax could have been arranged for the supreme convention of the Knights of Columbus than the grand reception and ball which was tendered the delegates in the ballroom of the Hotel Somerset last evening. There were present in addition to the delegates all of the members of the local committees. The party numbered about 200 couples.

State Deputy Louis Watson was congratulated on every side during the evening, as was also Hon. W. T. A. Fitzgerald, who was the chairman in charge of this portion of the convention entertainment.

From 8 until 9 there was an orchestral concert, which was followed by a grand march. The march was led by Eugene Knight James A. Fitzgibbon, followed by Mrs. Louis Watson, and they were followed by the state deputy, Mr. Watson, escorted by Mrs. Fitzgibbon, George H. McDermott, escorted by Mrs. W. T. A. Fitzgerald, State Sec. and Mrs. Philip L. McMahon, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Riley, the former chairman of the reception committee, who has won the warmest praise of everybody for his marvellous efforts, Judge and Mrs. Paul Leche of Donaldsonville, La., and Mrs. William F. Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Shafter and 350 or more couples.

After the selection of St. Paul, Minn., as the next city in which to hold their annual supreme council, the Knights of Columbus adjourned their meetings yesterday afternoon, following the most successful annual gathering they have ever held. From every side came words of praise for the manner in which the Boston councils had entertained the visitors, and in an extended resolution words of commendation were passed on the records in appreciation of the events that were held in this city the past four or five days.

Supreme Knight James A. Fitzgibbon of Philadelphia, in the closing minutes of the convention, took occasion to add his personal tribute and he said that in all the years that he had been a member of the supreme council he could not remember one that was more successful than the one just closed.

The delegates assembled at 10 yesterday forenoon. One of the first things passed was that the delegates should sit without recess until all the work had been cleared up.

The proposition to bring up the insurance issue and deal with the proposed change whereby the flat rate, so Paul Leche of Donaldsonville, La., Mr. term, should become operative at 55 and Mrs. William F. Riley, Mr. and

BIG GAMBLING LOSSES

Szchenyis May Face a Divorce

COUNTRESS SZCHENYI, NEE GLADYS VANDERBILT, ANGRY

Reported the Countess Has Lost Millions Through Speculation, Gambling and Extravagant Living

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Persistent rumors that Countess Szchenyi, formerly Gladys Vanderbilt, youngest daughter of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, will institute divorce proceedings against her husband, the count, in the immediate future.

From persons close to both the count and countess it is learned that the latter is exceedingly wrathful at the count's enormous gambling losses. In May the count's name was mentioned in connection with bankruptcy proceedings against three of the highest nobles in Hungary. At that time it was alleged that Count Szchenyi was involved in the same transactions. When his wife learned of his losses, which at that time were estimated at $1,000,000, she was angry. The couple left Hungary and rumors of a disagreement were rife, but were promptly denied.

In June and on further investigation, the amount of the count's alleged losses through speculation, gambling and extravagant living was thought to be in reality nearly $2,000,000. Immediately rumors of divorce were again heard, but once more promptly denied, particularly by a New York lawyer who handles all the Vanderbilts' private and personal affairs.

Now it is said that on a full realization of his conduct the countess will not listen to her husband's plea for mercy. She is obdurate to all his pleadings and insists on an immediate separation, and without leaving him any income from the Vanderbilt fortune. If this can be accomplished, it is thought the papers will be filed within a day or two.

KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Car Plunged Over Bank - Woburn Man Dead

WOBURN, Aug. 8.—William J. Carroll of this city died at the Choate hospital last night as a result of injuries received when his automobile shot down a 15 foot embankment on the state road in Burlington. He suffered a fractured skull and three ribs, one of which punctured his left lung.

His two companions, Ferdinand Harkins, 40, a member of the National Polo league, and Joseph Breslin, 25, also of Woburn, were thrown from the car, but miraculously escaped injury.

The party was on its way to Pinehurst park, a pleasure resort in Hillsdale, at a point on Winn street north of Sears road the automobile took a curve, and as it did its occupants saw a market wagon approaching.

Carroll turned out to avoid the wagon and his car steered into the railroad, burst it open and raced through into the field beyond. Directly beyond the railing was a 12-foot embankment, down which the car plunged until it struck a tree.

It had lost sufficient of its momentum so that it did not turn turtle, but turned onto one side after being thrown about a dozen feet.

Its occupants were stunned for an instant, but two of them revived quickly, and the Woburn authorities were telephoned for and an ambulance was sent for Mr. Carroll. The car was left in the field.

UNCLE JOE CANNON

Talks Politics With a Reporter—Nit

Former Speaker of the House Joseph G. Cannon stopped off for a few minutes at Springfield Wednesday, and a reporter for The Union succeeded in procuring the following very important interview:

"What do you think of the democratic administration, Mr. Cannon, and the tariff revision as proposed by President Wilson?"

"I am no prophet," replied Mr. Cannon, "neither am I the son of a prophet, therefore I cannot say."

"Do you think we will have war with Mexico and if so what will be the outcome?"

"It's a long time since I have been down in Mexico," he replied, "and of course am unfamiliar with the natives of that country."

"Will democracy in your opinion mean conditions throughout the country?" interrogated the reporter.

"Not being a democrat I couldn't say so to that," he responded.

"What do you think of the present situation in Washington and the many organizations in national circles?"

"I am no longer in politics," replied the former chief of the house, "and am therefore unqualified to speak."

POOR FIELDING LOSES BOTH GAMES

Halstein the Only Redeeming
Feature in the Lowell Infield—
Henderson Allows But 2 Hits

Miserable fielding by the Lowell infield lost them two games yesterday when the Shoemakers took part in the other end of a double header at Spaulding park. Halstein was the only man in the infield who played ball. Dee was the principal offender with his wild pegs to the plate, although Aubrey was very poor on several grounders. Brockton won both by the scores of 7 to 5 and 3 to 2.

Reiger pitched the first game and was opposed by "Scissors" Shears. The local twirler was continually in a hole owing to the ragged fielding of his teammates and, all things considered, pitched a good game. Shears was not in form and was found for ten hits.

Maloney singled to left but was out at second when Dowd hit to Miller. Ruffange hit to Dee and Miller dropped. Dee's throw to second, both Dowd and Ruffange being safe. Dowd went to third when the ball rolled into center field. Reiger caught Dowd napping off third and threw to Dee but on the latter's wild throw was safe at the plate. Ruffange went to second. Howard walked. McKee was safe at first on Aubrey's error. McMahon's infield out scored Ruffange. Halstein made a nice catch of Flaherty's fly.

Clemens dropped a single into center. Aubrey fled out to Dowd. DeGroff bounded out. Kennedy to Shears. Magee fled out to Maloney.

Score: Lowell 0, Brockton 2. Kennedy struck out. Miller threw out Shears at first. Maloney beat out on infield hit. Dowd hit to right but went out at second. DeGroff to Dee to Aubrey.

Halstein bounded out to Dowd. Miller went out. McMahon to Kennedy. Daly singled to short left but was forced out at second when Dee hit to Dowd.

Score: Lowell 3, Brockton 2. Ruffange was thrown out by Reiger. Howard walked and went to third on a poor throw to first. McKee struck out.

(Second Game)

The second game was a heart-breaker for Henderson, who was on the mound for Lowell, allowing but two hits but coming out on the short end of a 7 to 5 local slabstake. He passed two men, but should have scored a shutout over his opponents. Dee was again the big factor in the loss of the game.

Aubrey sacrificed him to third and he came home on DeGroff's single to center. Magee was safe when Kennedy dropped his grounder and Halstein walked. Miller hit to McMahon who threw to the plate, getting DeGroff, and Daly closed the session by fanning.

Lowell led another in the third after Brockton had put one across in her half on a pass, a sacrifice, an error by Dee and a single. Lowell's run was earned. Magee and Miller both cracking out long doubles to the left field fence.

SENATOR JOHNSTON DIED TODAY

His Death Weakens Democratic Majority on the Administration Tariff Bill in the Senate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Senator Johnston of Birmingham, Ala., died at his apartments here early today.

Senator Johnston had not been able to attend sessions of the senate for a week. He had been confined to his apartment most of the time and a few days ago pneumonia developed. The senator's son, Forney Johnston, was summoned last night from Birmingham but it was believed then that the senator was not in any immediate danger.

Senator Johnston was seventy years old, had served in the Confederate army, was governor of Alabama for two terms and had been a member of the senate since 1907. He was unanimously elected to succeed the late Senator Pettus and was reelected in 1909.

The death of Senator Johnston weakens the democratic majority on the administration tariff bill in the senate, though party leaders insist there still will be no serious difficulty in passing the measure.

In the democratic senate caucus it was announced that 49 members had declared they would support the bill on its final passage. At that time Senators Vandell and Thornton of Louisiana were the only ones to declare they would vote against the bill, their opposition being because of the sugar schedule. On the basis of the caucus, democratic leaders figured that the vote on the tariff bill without defections from either side, would be 49 to 47 for its passage. The death of Senator Johnston leaves the calculation 45 to 47.

It is evident that any western senator who does not strongly favor free sugar might possibly vote against the bill, the democrats have been counting on the vice president to carry the day in case of a tie. Senator Johnston's death, provided his seat is not filled before the vote on the tariff bill, removes the vice president from the range of possibilities on any strict alignment. Should one vote be lost to

FINANCIAL PROBLEM

That Embarrasses a Great Many Cities

FLOATING BONDS BECOMING A SERIOUS MATTER

Banks Unwilling to Purchase Bonds at Reasonable Rates of Interest—Sale of Bonds to Citizens

In a recent issue of the Municipal Journal there appeared an article captioned "A Serious Financial Problem," dealing with the floating of bonds by cities. It was stated that a great many cities find it impossible to float 4½ per cent. bonds, are issuing bonds in small denominations and selling them to their citizens in any quantity desired.

The following is taken from the article in question: The difficulty which a great many cities all over that part of the country east of the Mississippi at least, are finding in floating bonds is becoming a serious matter, and one which is causing considerable embarrassment in some cases. In Waterbury, Conn., for instance, the city is under contract to make monthly payments of $15,000 to $20,000 for work upon a dam contracted for some time ago, while other expenditures for the water department, police and fire departments and for school houses are very necessary. To meet these expenditures $500,000 worth of bonds have been authorized, but as the city is required by law to sell no bonds under face value, and pay no more than 4½ per cent. interest, it has been found impossible to float these bonds. Toledo, Ohio, also has found it impossible to find a market for 4½ per cent. bonds, and the finance committee believes that 5 per cent. or more will be necessary to attract investors, and in the meantime street improvements and water works improvements must be postponed until $300,000 worth of bonds can be disposed of. Marion County, West Virginia has found it impossible to dispose of $100,000 worth of 5 per cent. bonds except at a sacrifice, and the same is true of 4½ per cent. bonds to the amount of one million dollars, which Cuyahoga County, Ohio, endeavored to sell, following which the county decided to make an effort to sell a five per cent. bond.

At the Ohio township fair to get a bidder for $25,000 road improvement securities which commanded 61-2 per cent. interest, while a $25,000 issue of Steubenville school bonds were disposed of on a 6 per cent. basis and a small lot of Ohio township school bonds were sold at the same figure. The lowest interest reported recently on bonds of this nature was 13-100, 5 per cent. for a county in Ohio. The village of Eastwood, near Syracuse, N. Y., had an offer for $55,000 worth of 5 per cent. bonds at par, but with the understanding that the bankers would receive bonds immediately and make payments at the rate of one over $1,000 a month, which bid was rejected.

This condition of affairs is undoubtedly due to a large extent to the general condition of the money market, but there would seem to be some reason why municipal bonds are considered less desirable than some others, whereas they should be the most reliable and popular of the bonds on the market. Whether this is due to suspicion of the financial methods of some of our cities, to an idea that they are over-bonding, or whatever may be the reason, the fact remains that many if not most of our cities are being confronted with a difficulty in raising funds necessary for making improvements which are in many cases very much needed, and failure to perform which would mean a reduction in the amount of work and consequently no wages for a considerable number of their citizens. The city of Atchison, Kansas, refused to pay bonds for about $267,000 which fell due July 1, offering, however, to exchange for them 30-year 4 per cent. bonds, which the city naturally has not met with favorably, considering the city's condition. There have been similar instances in connection with other city, county and state bonds in the past, and this may have something to do with the failure of such bonds to be considered as the most desirable on the market.

In the case of the Atchison bonds, the state auditor, under an old state law, served notice on the treasurer of Atchison that he must levy a special tax on all the property of the city sufficient to raise the amount necessary to pay off the bonds. Possibly if similar laws existed in all the states, investors might have more confidence in municipal bonds.

Several cities, finding banks and other large investors unwilling to purchase bonds at reasonable rates of interest, are issuing bonds in small denominations and selling them to their citizens in any quantity desired. Camden, N. J., is selling $50,000 worth of street bonds in this way, these bonds bearing 4-1-2 per cent. interest, and bonds as small as $100 being available. Within a few days $70,000 worth have been subscribed, $35,000 having been sold in a single day. Birmingham, N. Y., is selling $35,000 worth of 4-1-2 per cent. 8 to 14-year bonds in denominations ranging from $100 to $1,000. The board of estimate and apportionment on one morning sold $73,000 worth at par, among the purchasers being the firemen's relief and pension fund, but practically all the other purchasers were individual citizens.

This method involves a little more trouble on the part of the city officials and may involve some minor expenses, with the possible contingency that the public will not purchase all the bonds which it is desired to sell, while banks and other large purchasers would refuse to take the odd lot remaining. But the success which the popular sale

ASSIST IN MOVING CROPS

Treasury Prepared to Deposit $100,000,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—At a conference today between treasury officials and bankers of the central west regarding the distribution of government deposits to assist in moving the crops, Assistant Secretary John S. Williams declared the treasury was prepared to deposit $100,000,000 if necessary. The original plan called for $50,000,000. The exact amount of the government deposits will be determined after the facts presented by the bankers have been analyzed.

The bankers of Chicago and Indianapolis were not prepared to say whether the deposits would be needed by them but they may be glad to receive a portion of the funds. Generally the governments proposition to put out the money was welcomed. Dr. Williams informed the bankers that the deposits to be secured by state and other bonds exclusive of government bonds and by commercial paper the treasury department probably would insist on an additional security of ten per cent. in United States bonds.

COLLAPSED IN STREET

Lowell Man Taken to Hospital in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Aug. 8.—Naupold Grant, who gave his residence as 12 Arthur avenue, Lowell, was found at the corner of Melvin and Oxford streets, about 8 o'clock last night by Policeman Kilpatrick in such a weakened condition from the ravages of the white plague that he had collapsed on the street. The sad case was reported to the authorities and the stricken man was removed in the ambulance to the Tuberculosis hospital where he will be cared for. He was in such a weakened condition that little or no facts regarding how he came to be there or as to whether or not he was married could be learned.

REGATTA ON CHARLES

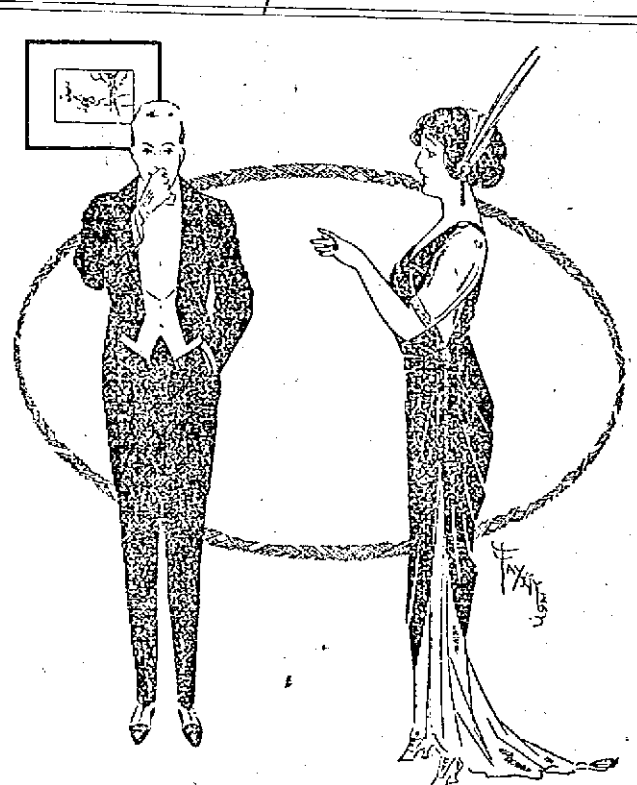

For Amateur Oarsmen—The Winners

BOSTON, Aug. 5.—Bright skies and flat water invited fast time when the forty first annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen was opened this afternoon. Competing oarsmen, club coaches and thousands who lined the Charles river bank looked for the breaking of more than one association record.

The first race for intermediate four-oared crews was not started until two o'clock. On the first attempt to get away the Metropolitan crew rowed into the Dutch four's water. A foul was claimed and all the crews were called back.

Intermediate four-oared shells, 1½ mile, with turn, four starters. Won by Duluth Boat club, Metropolitan B. C., New York, second; Detroit B. C., Detroit, third; Malta B. C., fourth. Time, 7:52.

Senior quarter mile dash, single sculls, eight starters. Won by H. Dibble, Port Rowing club of Toronto; B. Butler, Argonaut Boat club, Toronto. Time, 1:41.

POLES ENOUGH IN BRIDGE STREET

Says Miss A. B. Merrill—Refused to Sanction Plans Submitted by Wire Inspector

The members of the municipal council held a record breaking meeting this forenoon. The meeting, which was a special one, was called to order at 11:17 o'clock by Mayor O'Donnell, and it adjourned at 12:03 o'clock. All members were present with the exception of Com. Barrett.

The first matter brought to the attention of the city officials was a communication from Miss Addie B. Merrill, of 645 Bridge street, who says she received a visit from Mr. Mahan, inspector of wires, and that the latter endeavored to have her accept a proposed plan for the erection of a pole by the Bay State Street Railway Co. and the Lowell Electric Light Corp. opposite her home and that she refused to accept it. Miss Merrill is a remonstrant to the granting of the joint petition of the above companies for permission to erect poles in Bridge street. The communication was referred to the commissioners of public property and licenses, and streets and highways.

The fourth report of Auditor Arthur W. De Grooch relative to the claims of the water department for expenses incurred in the abolition of several grade crossings in this city, was read.

BATTERED AND THREE ESCAPED FROM PRISON

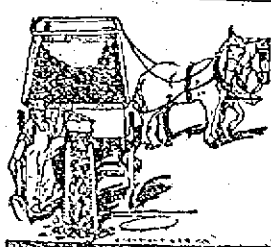

Of Mrs. John Craig Found In Kitchen of Home In Boston

Conditions Indicate Foul Play—Struck by a Blunt Weapon

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The battered and bruised body of Mrs. John Craig, 37, was found in a kitchen of her home in South Boston early today under conditions which the police believed indicate foul play. Mrs. Craig had been struck repeatedly with some blunt weapon.

Shortly after discovering her body, the police arrested Daniel Dineen, the woman's brother, on a charge of drunkenness. Dineen had boarded with Mrs. Craig about a week.

FAIRIES AT THE KASINO

Many Pretty Dances Executed by Children

A large number of the younger element of the south part of the city were present at the lawn party held at the Kasino this afternoon in aid of St. Anthony's church. The large pavilion was decorated with colored bunting and Japanese lanterns were extended around the hall giving it a very attractive appearance. The place resembled a page from fairy land.

The feature of the afternoon was the "Flower Pageant" under the direction of Miss Blanche L. Perrin. About one hundred children took part in this number which was started at 2:45 o'clock. The program opened with fancy dancing and the fine work of the little children showed that they had secured thorough training and much credit is due Miss Perrin for the splendid performance of the little ones. The Rose dance was probably the most elaborate of any. About ninety children took part in this dance and each carried a string of roses, over two thousand roses being used in the dance. Each child wore a white dress and a prettier scene has never been witnessed at this dance hall than the one presented by the little "roses" as they glided over the floor. The other numbers were also good, the minuet dance in which the girls were dressed in colonial costumes, creating much interest. The same entertainment will be given this evening.

After the fancy dancing general dancing was enjoyed to music furnished by the Manhattan orchestra. At 8:30 o'clock tonight it is planned to have racing on the common a feature of which will be a five mile race around the common. In the evening everything on the midway will be going in full force and dancing will follow the entertainment that is to be given by the children.

The dances and the dancers of the afternoon were as follows:
Spanish dance, Miss Anna Tierney; sword dance, Miss Anna McMillan.
Rose march, Catherine Shea, Bertha Saucier, May McEvoy, Rosella Hogan, Lillian Mackey, Lillian Flynn, Cecilia Driscoll, Esther Ringwood, May McGuane, Esther Sullivan, May Ray, Sadie Moriarty, Catherine Brady, May Walsh, Dorothy Delaney, Alice Walsh, Christina White, Mary Sullivan, Margaret McQuade, Ethel Wilson, Sagle O'Brien, Helen Welch, Margaret Hanigan, Hazel Rogers, Alice Spillane, Gertrude Corkey, May Harrigan, Gertrude Eastman, Elizabeth Horgan, Rose Markham, Dorothy Eastman, Anna Donohue, Helen Delaney, Margaret Sullivan, Deloras Regan, Jennie Connors, Mary Slattery, Anna Slattery, Helen Brannill, Mary Steele, Gertrude Madden, Dorothy Kelley, Mary Mello, Mary Welch, Vera Bourke, Anna Maughan, Stella Naughton, Katherine Guthrie, Rita Goiman, Lillian Keefe, Margaret Chase, Catherine McQuade, Lenora Markham, Sallie Markham, Mildred Conroy, Grace Sheehan, Alice Whitmore, Mary Ferris, Mary Silva, Winifred Whelan, Mary Arvilla, Helen Neville, Margaret Clifford, Addie Curtin, Tony Santos, Henry Santos, Joe Roche, John Martin, Frank Santos, Helen Corbett, Madeline Welch, Velma Corbett, Elizabeth Conway, Gertrude Saucier.

TWO DROWNED WHILE BATHING

Miss Rockey and Wm. Lewis Lost Their Lives at Atlantic City

Man Who Attempted to Rescue Victims Almost Perished

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 8.—Miss Edith Rockey of Quarryville, Pa., near Lancaster and William Lewis, colored, of Washington, D. C., were drowned while bathing off States avenue today while bathing in the ocean off States avenue today before the lifeguards went on duty. Miss Rockey went down in sight of 300 people, nearly all of whom were men. Because of the rough sea they were afraid to venture into the breakers and it was not until Rufe Bradley, colored, of this city appeared that an attempt at rescue was made. Bradley fully clothed plunged into the ocean. His effort was fruitless and he nearly perished himself.

CONSTABLES HAVE AT IT

Struggle for Possession of Horse and Buggy

A case continued in police court this morning in which two constables are involved, one a Lowell and the other a Chelmsford constable, looks as if it might be productive of a few smiles when it comes to trial.

Constable William L. Crowley, 50 the story goes, set out yesterday afternoon to attach the horse and buggy of John Marinel, a town constable of North Chelmsford, which was inadvertently left standing unattended outside of Livingston's coal yard. Constable Crowley had just got firmly set in the seat of the vehicle and was in the act of picking up the reins preparatory to driving off when up steps Mr. Owner. "What are you doing in that trap?" sang out Marinel. In no uncertain accents "I'm attaching your team," answered Crowley. "Well, I guess not, you don't attach any team of mine," exclaimed the now furious guardian of North Chelmsford law and order, and straightaway leaped into the rig. Then occurred a battle royal. Shoulder to shoulder the two officers struggled while the intelligent animal stopped short as though to give the two occupants of its equipage a better opportunity to demonstrate their respective athletic ability. Such a struggle, however, could not go on forever.

With a final summoning of reserves forces the town constable at last succeeded in accomplishing the overthrow of his opponent. Caught with a half Nelson and scissors hold Constable Crowley found himself powerless and with one great heave North Chelmsford overcame Lowell and exported her from the buggy. Such then, is the correct manner in which Constables have at it.

EARTHQUAKE RENDERS THOUSANDS HOMELESS

The Peruvian Towns of Caraveli and Quicacha Were Destroyed—Great Misery Prevails Among Inhabitants

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 8.—An earthquake on Wednesday destroyed the Peruvian towns of Caraveli and Quicacha. Thousands of the inhabitants were rendered homeless and great misery prevails.

Caraveli is a town of four thousand inhabitants in the state of Arequipa, 130 miles to the northwest of the port of Mollendo. Quicacha is in the same state. The whole district is subject to frequent earthquakes and in the town of Arequipa and most of the other towns of the state the houses are built to resist earthquakes. Arequipa itself had been laid in ruins on several occasions. The volcano of Misti is in the immediate vicinity.

stable Crowley and Constable Marinel fought for possession of a horse and buggy.

As soon as he had vanquished his opponent Constable Marinel immediately hurried his horse's footsteps in the direction of his home village. In no wise daunted Constable Crowley wended his way down town (on foot) and hunked himself to the office of Lawyer George Allard for advice in the matter. Just what that advice was has not been made public but today a criminal complaint has been made in the local police court against Constable Marinel by Constable Crowley and Mr. Allard, counsel for the latter officer, stated to the writer that civil proceedings will also be instituted.

An old adage says "It's a wise man who knows enough to carry an umbrella when it doesn't rain." Still another somewhat metaphorically remarked that it is a wise man who knows whose umbrella he carries.

But to be more practical, let us state that it is a wise man who knows enough to have a cure at hand before sickness comes. At this season of the year there is no better remedy with which to provide yourself than a bottle of

Settled in Police Court—George Surly's Assailants Beat Him With a Fence Picket

A Williams street free-for-all occupied the greater portion of Judge Enright's time and attention at this morning's session of the police court. The fight occurred in the wee small hours, two o'clock being the time agreed upon by the majority of the witnesses.

George Tworeck and John Marenski were the names of the defendants and they were both charged with assault and battery upon George Surly. It was upwards of an hour before Attorney Silverblatt finished a tedious cross-examination of the witnesses for the government and completed his own case. Dennis J. Murphy appeared as counsel for the prosecution.

Dr. Murphy was the first witness called by the prosecution and he told the court that he had attended the complainant and dressed his wounds. There was one wound on his forearm, said the physician, which might have been made by a nail and another on his finger which looked as though it had been industriously chewed by someone's teeth. Surly also had a bruise over his eye which was discolored.

Used Fence Picket
The complainant himself next took the stand. He testified that he was called by the prosecution and he told the court that he had attended the complainant and dressed his wounds. There was one wound on his forearm, said the physician, which might have been made by a nail and another on his finger which looked as though it had been industriously chewed by someone's teeth. Surly also had a bruise over his eye which was discolored.

LARCENY FROM $50,000 FIRE BOSTON BANK IN PEABODY

Is Charge Against Jacob Watchmaker, a Notebroker

Was Arrested at His Home In Chelsea Early Today

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—Jacob Watchmaker, a notebroker with an office on Hanover street, this city, was arrested at his home in Chelsea early today on a technical charge of larceny of $500 from the Broadway National bank of Chelsea. The warrant for Watchmaker's arrest was issued at the request of Percy Moses, cashier of the bank.

The specific charge against Watchmaker alleges that in January he obtained $500 from the bank on a note in the giving of which he is charged with making false statements regarding his assets and liabilities. Neither police or bank officials would discuss the case this morning further than to say a number of other similar charges involving a great amount of money will be investigated.

Held in $10,000
Judge Cutler placed the bail at $10,000 and without requiring the defendant to plead to the complaint, continued the case until Aug. 20th to give the authorities time in which to investigate the alleged irregularities.

PEABODY, Aug. 5.—Streets in this town will be in darkness at night for at least a month and a number of factories which rely on electric power to operate the machinery will be shut down as a result of a fire which caused a damage of $50,000 to the Peabody municipal electric lighting plant early today. Persons who use electricity to light their homes will be supplied temporarily by the Salem Municipal Electric Light Co., which, however, cannot furnish power for commercial purposes.

Spontaneous combustion was given as the cause of the fire which destroyed the generators, engines, dynamos and switchboard. This was one of the first municipal electric plants built in Massachusetts.

The comfort and pleasure of having a clean, light, airy, sanitary office for your patrons, as well as yourself, makes work easy in the new Sun building.

ANOTHER GEM ROBBERY

Mansion in Hartford, Was Robbed of Thousands

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 8.—While a merry dinner party enjoyed the hospitality of Frederick H. Sloan of the jewelry firm of Hanes, Sloan & Co., patient, clever burglars sat and waited their opportunity to enter the Sloan residence on Torrington street and make it of thousands of dollars' worth of jewels. Last night the Hartford detectives working on the case were as completely baffled as the sleuths on the Rhode Island robberies.

The robbery here, which was held and thorough, occurred between the time the dinner guests departed and 1 o'clock yesterday morning, when the first maid to arise discovered the house in disorder, even the rooms in which the Sloan family peacefully slept being stripped of their choicest valuables.

The Hartford police were immediately notified and furnished a list of the stolen property. In turn the police departments of Boston, New York and Connecticut cities were advised of the burglary which was obviously the work of professionals. Neither Mr. Sloan nor the local police will talk about the robbery or the total amount stolen beyond admitting that it is very considerable.

Entrance was obtained by means of a trellis through a dining room window, and once inside the burglars opened back and front doors for an emergency getaway. None of the solid silverware was taken and apparently a sum of money in Mr. Sloan's dresser was overlooked. No finger marks were discernible yesterday and apparently the clue for the police to work on is the imprint of a small shoe in the soft ground beneath the dining room window.

GOV. FOSS REPLIES AGAIN

His Attitude Not Changed Since Strike

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Settlement of the existing differences between Gov. Foss and the striking employees of his Hyde Park plant, which on Wednesday night seemed very near, appeared more distant than ever last night after the governor had replied to the latest offer of settlement from the strikers.

The governor's letter was nothing more than a repetition of the attitude he has held since the beginning of the strike. He asks first that the employees return to work on or before next Monday, and then offers to treat with the men individually and make an attempt to adjust any grievance which they may hold. But throughout his letter he makes no mention of treating with shop committees, which would give recognition to the union.

Because the employees have already turned down a similar offer by a unanimous vote, it was believed last night that the governor's offer would not be accepted. In the absence of Orrin E. Preble, international officer of the Pattern Makers' strike, who was called away to New London on business, the leaders would not vouchsafe an opinion. Until Mr. Preble's return no action will be taken on the offer, in all probability.

In the concluding paragraph of his reply Gov. Foss calls attention to the right which the employees have of appealing to the state board of arbitration for an investigation of industrial conditions. He says, however, that, as the complaints are the subject of conference and adjustment, no necessity for arbitration should arise if the employees choose to return to work.

GRAND TRUNK

WILL BUILD ROAD TO PROVIDENCE

Official Orders to Resume Preliminary Work from Palmer Issued—Ample Funds for Purpose

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The Southern New England railroad, a branch of the Grand Trunk, has secured funds to provide for the construction of the roadbed of its proposed extension from Palmer to Providence. It was unofficially stated last night, and official orders have already been given to resume the preliminary work between Palmer and Woonsocket.

The cost of the roadbed forms a large part of the cost of the entire construction owing to the hilly nature of the ground through which the proposed extension is to be built, and it was stated with authority yesterday that enough money was in sight to provide for the completion of the extension on schedule time. The road has until July, 1915, to complete building.

CARBONOL

To Destroy Tobacco Smells

Many a woman finds the odor of stale tobacco smoke very disagreeable. A little Carbonol in the water used to wash up the floor or wood-work removes all unpleasant odors.

Carbonol is a wonderful cleaning and disinfecting agent, and although perfectly harmless, only a very little is required.

It kills germs, and removes grease of all kinds. Scores of other uses.

BOY PUSHED INTO WATER

Was Unconscious When Pulled Out

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Venturing far out on some logs that extend into Dorchester bay from D and Fargo streets, South Boston, to save a kitten that had fallen overboard 7-year-old John Gannon of 65 Fifth street was pushed into the water by a playmate yesterday and would have drowned only for the heroism of Michael Griffin, 16 years old, of 254 Second street, who was on the shore 100 yards distant.

Griffin sprang forward as the boy tumbled over into the bay, and throwing aside what clothing he could as he ran, made his way out over the trembling logs and plunged into the water. After several futile dives Griffin came to the boy's body, caught in a heap on the bottom.

Well nigh exhausted himself, he managed, however, to free it and bring the child to the edge of the logs and hand the unconscious form to a score of spectators who had gathered. The Gannon boy was hastened to the D street gymnasium. Efforts to resuscitate him proved unavailing and he was taken to the City hospital. He finally was restored to consciousness,

"UNCLE JOE" A VISITOR

Sight Seeing in Hub—No Political Talk

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Joseph G. Cannon, the familiar "Uncle Joe" of past congresses, will bowl over the road from Portland, Me., and into historic Plymouth today. While in Plymouth he will visit the "rock," the Forefathers' monument and other national memorials, as he is doing elsewhere in the course of his tour of New England.

The former speaker of the national house passed last night beneath the roof of the old Webster homestead at Plymouth where which place an early start will be made this morning for Portland.

After leaving Boston yesterday morning, the Cannon party motored to Quincy, where they visited the Dor-

USED COMFORT POWDER

FOURTEEN YEARS, FINDS NOTHING BETTER

Mrs. W. G. Conner writes from Asheville, N. C.: "I have used Comfort Powder daily for over 14 years and just cannot do without it. I took six boxes to Panama with me but ran out of it on board ship and the nurse I struck New York I sent out for two cans. I can't find any other powder that will half way do. To heat and comfort the skin there is nothing like Comfort Powder." Physicians, Trained Nurses and Hospitals everywhere do not hesitate to give Comfort Powder most unqualified endorsement. It is the only powder with genuine signature of E. S. Sykes on box.

"NEW WOMAN" CRUSADE

Is Progressing Rapidly in Japan

TOKIO, Japan, Aug. 8.—The "new woman" crusade in Japan is day by day occupying an increasingly prominent place in public discussion. This is due to the comparatively radical measures adopted by the women to further their cause, and to the fact that this agitation has elicited a counter campaign by prominent men of Japan, including officials of the department of education. Although the Japanese crusaders have in no way approached the radicalism of their British sisters and have not resorted to violence, they are carrying on a determined movement by means of lectures and literature, some of which the government has seen fit to censor. Mr. Okada, minister of education, says he is at a loss to understand the real motives of the "new woman." He declares, so far as he can gather, that they are trying to transplant wholesale to Japan the extreme and unwholesome doctrines which have had a vogue in some parts of the United States and Europe, without modifying them to suit the Japanese people.

If their movement is actuated by consciousness of the necessity of free-

At the present time the attention of all political Massachusetts is centered on the body of Thomas Carroll, the Lowell young man who was killed by a train at Miles City.

FOSS PLANS NOT CHANGED

No Matter What McCall Does, Governor Says He'll Stick

Benton Declares He Will Remain and Lick McCall If He Runs

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—With Benton in the race, McCall almost in and Foss keeping everybody guessing, the republican gubernatorial situation is more complicated than ever. Yesterday Representative Channing Cox of Boston and ex-representative Edwin A. Bayley of Lexington started a set of nomination papers for ex-congressman Samuel W. McCall. Cox is the titular leader of the republicans in the legislature. Bayley was defeated by Roger Sherman Hoar for the senate a few years ago.

Bayley swooped down on republican headquarters yesterday afternoon, and in loud tones demanded that the republican leaders give the republicans opposed to "the cold-storage candidate," as he termed Col. Benton, a chance to vote for a real live republican who would save the party from third place.

Cox, backed by Speaker Cushing and Representative Barnes of Mansfield, has been pushing the McCall boom for several days, but did not come out in the open until yesterday. Even then all three disclaimed that they had an assurance from Mr. McCall that he would enter the primaries against Benton.

Col. Benton said that if Mr. McCall entered the contest he would be surprised as he had been counting on McCall as one of his backers in the governorship contest.

Whether McCall goes in or not, Col. Benton says it will make no difference to him. "I shall stick until the last vote is counted," said he yesterday. "Of course, I don't want to see my good old friend Sam McCall go into this thing," he added, "but if he does I'll have to take off my coat and lick him."

Gov. Foss said yesterday that no matter what McCall does it will make no difference in his plans. His right hand political man, George M. Harlow, insists that the governor will run and ventured the opinion last night that McCall would not run.

McCall came to town yesterday intending to go to New York on the 1 p. m. train, but the politicians besieged his office and kept coming until after lunch and he had to abandon his plan of taking the midday train. He left on the 5 p. m. and will be back in a day or two.

FOSS PAPERS TORN UP

Mitchell Makes Vain Effort to Secure Names in Brockton and Finally Quits in Disgust

BROCKTON, Aug. 8.—Nomination papers for Gov. Foss as a republican candidate for governor reached this city Wednesday, and yesterday were torn up and tossed into a waste paper basket in an office in the Barrister building because no one was found to sign them.

The papers came to Jacob Oppenheim from Judge Simon Swig of Taunton. Mr. Oppenheim, however, is a democrat and is a member of the democratic city committee. He said he couldn't consistently circulate the papers, and turned them over to Morris Shapiro, a member of the republican city committee.

Mr. Shapiro has no particular love for Gov. Foss, he says, so he gave the papers to Max Mitchell of 233 Crescent street, a medical student. Mitchell tried to get some signatures among the Hebrew voters, but returned without a name, and in disgust tore up the papers and tossed them into a basket.

STUDY OF SEX HYGIENE

Kansas City Teachers to Receive Instructions

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 8.—As the beginning of a campaign to introduce the study of sex hygiene into the public schools of this city, a local philanthropist and social worker will send members of the teaching staff of the Kansas City schools to the International Congress on School Hygiene, which will meet at Buffalo, Aug. 25.

This announcement was made by the school authorities today.

The teachers will seek instruction on the subject of sex hygiene and when they return an effort will be made to incorporate their information into the work of the schools.

HUBBY OLD FASHIONED

Wife Says He Wanted More Than One Baby

SHE MUST LIVE WITH HIM, RULES COURT

Says He Failed to Provide Her With Funds to Buy Silk Skirt and Other Things

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Clara Briner Tousey, who her husband, Dr. Ralph Tousey, of 150 West Seventy-seventh street, says, has many woman ideas of wifehood, must live with her "old-fashioned husband," according to a decision of Supreme Court Justice Gray yesterday in the suit by the wife for separation.

The justice found the case without merit and gave the custody of Ralph, Jr., 3 years old, to the father. Billed down to a few words, Mrs. Tousey's long list of grievances against her husband is:

He has old-fashioned ideas and wants more than one baby.

He did not give her his undivided time and attention regardless of business demands.

He failed to provide her with sufficient funds with which to purchase silk gowns and other things the feminine heart holds dear.

The doctor has declared that he expects a wife to be a housewife, a mother of children, a helpmate and not too extravagant.

The doctor has an income of at least $10,000 a year, according to Mrs. Tousey, and will inherit $100,000 on the death of his mother.

Mrs. Tousey's shopping trips have cost him, the doctor says, in four years more than $11,000 above his income.

The Touseys were married in New York on Sept. 11, 1903, and their son Ralph was born Aug. 4, 1910. After their marriage they lived at 43 West Eighty-third street, a house which the doctor sold recently for $40,000.

CHANGED HIS MIND

Man Who Sought Watery Grave Decided That Life Was Worth Living After All

A man named Andre Langlois, 27 Ward street, was taken from the canal near Perkins street shortly after 9 o'clock last night after attempting to commit suicide.

It was stated by witnesses of the act that the man while walking down the dark street suddenly jumped over the fence and into the water. After realizing that the water was uncomfortably cold he shouted for help and his cries attracted a number of people who immediately set out to rescue the drowning man. Officer Joseph Lamoureux appeared on the scene and with the help of some of the young men in the vicinity succeeded in bringing Andre to shore.

The man was unconscious when taken from the water and the ambulance was summoned. He was taken to the Lowell hospital, where he was revived and later removed to his home.

ENGLAND'S KING OFFERS CUP

Eight Yachts Hoisted
Sail for Race at Newport Today

Commodore Plant Retires From Race Owing to Death of Wife

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 8.—Eight yachts, seven single stickers and one schooner, hoisted sail today for the annual race for the cup offered by the king of England.

The entries included six of the New York "knockabout" sloops, the Barbara, Acushla, Grayling, Sparter, Plover and Iroquois, the sloop Avenger and the schooner Iroquois.

Great regret was expressed at the retirement of the schooner Elena and at the loss sustained by her owner, Commodore Morton F. Plant, in the death yesterday of his wife. The Elena has been a consistent racer in the cruises of the New York and Eastern Yacht clubs during the past three years and has won nearly every event in which she started. It was Commodore Plant's fond desire to complete the record by capturing the king's cup. The Elena left for New London shortly after morning colors.

Weather conditions for racing were an improvement on yesterday. There was a moderate northeast breeze that helped the yachts out to the start at the Brenton Reef lightship and gave promise of increasing later in the day. There was some fog off shore early in the day but it was soon burned off by the sun.

The second race for the cup presented by King George of England and the eighth in the series of king's cup races was participated in by boats of the New York Yacht club today.

Cup by the Late King Edward

The original cup, the gift of the late King Edward VII, an honorary member of the New York organization, was one of the most valuable trophies ever presented to the club. Its intrinsic worth in metal was $500 but from an artistic standpoint its value was even greater. The only condition imposed by King Edward when he gave the cup in 1904 was that it should be raced for yearly by yachts of any yacht club in the country over 50 feet on the water line, sloops, schooners and yawls sailing in one class.

The club decided to make the race an honorary event so far as the prize went, in other words to give to the winner a replica of the original cup and inscribe the name of the victorious yacht on the base.

Upon the death of King Edward the first King's cup was withdrawn from competition at the request of his successor, George V, and a second cup substituted by that monarch, which was raced for last year for the first time.

Seven Races for Cup
There have been seven races of the king's cup. Five have been won by sloops and two by schooners. The first race was by far the most exciting and was won by the sloop Effort, owned by F. M. Smith of San Francisco and sailed by Addison D. Hagan of New York. The Effort finished nearly half an hour behind the new schooner Queen, which J. Rogers Maxwell had built expressly to win the first king's cup race but with her time allowance the smaller yacht won by a margin of nine seconds. Two years before Captain Hagan defeated Captain Rogers in a similar yachting duel, when the little 46 foot sloop Aspirant captured the Astor cup from the 70 foot sloop Yankee by 25 sec. after being beaten by as many minutes in elapsed time.

The comfort and pleasure of having a clean, light, airy, sanitary office for your patrons, as well as yourself, makes work easy in the new Sun building.

TAKE HORSES FROM BLAZING BARN

106 Rescued in Four Alarm Fire at Siegel & Co.'s Stables and Warehouse in Boston

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Fire, caused by defective wiring early last evening destroyed the two top floors of the five-story brick building at East Dedham and Albany streets, used by the Henry Siegel company as a stable and warehouse, and badly damaged a third floor. The company's horses, 106 in number, were saved. The blaze proved particularly stubborn to fight, and resulted in the sounding of three alarms. Just how great the loss was the Siegel company said they could not estimate.

One fireman sprained his ankle in tugging at a hose line, and a number of spectacular features attended the blaze. Thousands of persons were attracted to the scene, and were held back by police from five divisions.

The prompt discovery of the blaze by employees in the building made it possible for them to rescue all the horses, together with harnesses and vehicles. Tons of hay and grain were burned, as well as furniture stored on the fourth and fifth floors.

At the outset the fire was spectacular, but as soon as streams were turned on it from Albany and Dedham streets it resolved itself into a smudge that sent a pall of smoke floating over the south end of the city which choked the firemen and impeded them in their work.

The smoke made it next to impossible for them to get into the buildings, or near the source of the fire on the fourth floor of the building near the East Canton street side. Ordinarily powerful streams were ineffective, and only the tower, operated from the Dedham street side, and a how gun, with three streams surging into it, directed from the Albany street side, proved effective.

Save Adjoining Property

The firemen worked especially hard to prevent the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings—to the stable and warehouse of the Sloan Liniment company on one side, and the warehouse of the Boston Opera House on the other. In the former were inflammable liniments, and in the latter scenery and other material.

The fire was discovered at 5.30 by Edward Barry, a harness cleaner. He was on the second floor at the time and smelled smoke. He went upstairs, where he found a brisk fire burning in the hay mow at the extreme southeastern corner of the building.

He sounded the interior fire alarm and notified Stable Superintendent Richard Murphy, who pulled the first alarm from box 77. Barry, together with Patrick Darnody, a watchman, and Patrick Freeman, began to get the horses out from their stalls on the second and third floors.

W. C. Craig, Joseph Wadsworth, Charles Foster, Thomas H. Kelly, William Downey, Michael Condon and others rushed in from the street to assist in saving the animals and the harnesses and vehicles on the first floor.

While one man stood at the runway leading down from the stalls to the street door, the others ran from stall to stall, cutting the halloos with their knives and urging the frightened animals toward the exits.

Rescued Animals Sheltered

Others went to the fourth floor and tried to combat the flames with the lines of hose with which the building is equipped. According to Craig, he found that both of the two lines on the fourth floor were too short to reach within striking distance, so that the flames had gained considerable headway by the time the firemen arrived.

In the neighborhood are dozens of stables, and into these the rescued horses and vehicles were taken. The mayor, through his secretary, offered the use of the municipal stables, and the Boston Veterinary hospital and other places were thrown open to the rescued animals.

The fire worked over from the southeastern corner of the building, about halfway northward, and then spread back toward Harrison avenue, until about half of the building, from diagonal corner to diagonal corner, was afire.

Second Deputy Chief McDonough was in charge of the fight, assisted by Acting Deputy Captain Mitchell of engine 33. Chief Mullen is on his vacation and Deputy Chief Grady was enjoying a day off.

DR. SUN YAT SEN MAY COME HERE

MOJI, Japan, Aug. 8.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, former provisional president of the Chinese republic, arrived here today from the island of Formosa. He was traveling incognito. In reply to an inquiry he declared that he had not yet decided whether he would remain in Japan or go to America.

WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED

George Gagnon Victim of Automobile Accident

George Gagnon of 67 Mt. Hope street, the well known shoe man, was seriously injured in an automobile accident which occurred last night at the junction of Alken and Moody streets, when the machine of F. N. Labelle, the optician and that of a man named Henderson, collided. The accident took place shortly before 11 o'clock, and in the mix-up Mr. Gagnon had one of his legs fractured, while the other limb was badly lacerated. The other occupants of the car in which was Mr. Gagnon, Messrs. Labelle and J. C. Mauseau, the latter the well known clothing man, narrowly escaped serious injury. The two were badly shaken up but today are none the worse of their experience. The machines were badly damaged.

According to Mr. Labelle's story as told to a reporter of The Sun, he was driving his car down Alken street toward Moody street from Merrimack street, and when he reached the corner of Moody he took a long turn to the right, blowing his horn. Mr. Mauseau was seated on the seat with him, while Mr. Gagnon held a position on the floor of the auto with his legs on the running board. As the corner was turned, Henderson's car with a man named Pomereau at the wheel, crashed into Labelle's car, and Mr. Gagnon's legs were caught between the two machines.

Mr. Gagnon, who was in an unconscious condition, was removed to Hoile's drug store and Dr. G. O. Lavigne was summoned. The ambulance was later called and the injured man was removed to St. John's hospital, where his injuries were treated. It is feared amputation of one leg will be necessary. Mr. Pomereau and the woman passenger in his car escaped without injury.

Both machines were very badly damaged.

ISAAC WALTON CAMP

Is a Fine Camp and Forge Pond Sights
Are Rare—That's What the Ladies Say

The Isaac Walton camp located on the shores of Forge pond, near Forge Village, has been a very busy place during the last few days and at the present time a group of young men from this city are spending a part of their vacations there.

Last Wednesday was observed as "Ladies' day" and the affair was a great success, over twenty-five ladies accompanied by a number of young men journeying out to Forge Village on the electric cars, and being met there by a hay-rack which conveyed the happy party over the distance that separates this popular camp from the village.

Arriving at the camp shortly after noon the party immediately set out to enjoy themselves on the grounds in the vicinity of the camp. Sporting events were run off and baseball games were played while many of the party enjoyed a canoe or boat ride across the pond.

At three o'clock a well prepared banquet was served by Chef Edward Delude and his assistants. During the dinner hour an orchestra of six pieces, led by John J. Giblin, furnished music.

After the banquet, which satisfied the appetites of all, there was speaking by some of the members of the group and several selections by the orchestra.

In the evening an outdoor concert was given and the grounds in the vicinity of the camp were illuminated by a fine display of fireworks. The latter part of the day's program was very much enjoyed and at 9.30 o'clock the merry-makers reluctantly boarded the hay-rack and headed back to Forge Village where they were met by an electric car and conveyed back to this city.

The young men spending the present week at the camp are: Dr. J. J. Walsh, J. E. McCarthy, E. J. O'Donnell and Dr. J. P. Kearney with Chef Delude in charge of the kitchen.

The following were present at the banquet on Wednesday: Mrs. Jones E. O'Donnell, Mrs. J. J. Walsh, Mrs. W. W. Murphy, Mrs. E. E. Lang, Mrs. E. Crozier, Mrs. A. J. Gagnon, Mrs. E. L. Lavigne, Mrs. H. Church Pays $8,000,000 a Year in Salaries—Foreign Missionaries Are Included in Pension Scheme

In a preliminary report issued yesterday the commission on pensions of the Episcopal church develops some interesting information. The report shows that the Episcopal church pays $8,000,000 a year in salaries to its clergy who number 5500. The bold plan proposed by the commission is intended not only to pension the whole body of the clergy when they become 65 years old, but also to pension the widows, to educate their orphan children, and to take care of clergymen disabled at any age. It will apply to foreign missionaries as well as to the entire United States. The pension will be approximately half-pay.

The sums of money involved are large. No less than $7,000,000 will be necessary to provide for the pension obligations at the start, and no less than $500,000 will be thereafter expended each year by the pension fund.

This pension plan is the result of a comprehensive study carried on for three years by a commission of distinguished clergymen, of which Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts is chairman, and Bishop Greer of New York is a member. The pension plan was named by Marshall Sayre, an official of the Carnegie Foundation, and an authority on pensions, who is one of the six laymen who are members of the commission.

Details of the Plan

The plan is based upon the study of every pension system in the world, including those of governments, colleges, public school teachers, railroads, banks, etc. Facts have been collected from every Episcopal clergyman, and these facts studied by eminent authorities on statistics. Some of the details of the proposed scheme are innovations in pension systems. On one fundamental principle, the method of taking care of the disabilities with which a pension fund starts, always a heavy burden in a going concern, this Episcopal church fund is considered to mark a noteworthy advance in pension history. The $8,000,000 a year expenditure will be provided by a tax on the local churches which will be scientifically graduated according to the age at which its clergyman was ordained. This tax will average six per cent on the salaries.

The Episcopal pension commission, in reviewing existing pension systems, intimates that many of them are really bankrupt, a condition that is not now apparent because the systems are young, but which within a few years will become evident. This bankruptcy is attributed to the neglect of proper statistical study before these pension funds were started, and to the failure to provide properly for the load of liabilities with which a pension system always begins. Especially mentioned as unsound is the New York state public teacher's fund, which went into operation on Aug. 1 of this year.

The Episcopal commission also criticizes pension systems like those of the First National bank of New York and of Armour & Co., which keeps from an employee the interest on his pension contributed when he resigns. In many instances this is simply a device to prevent strikes. There is also criticism of a large number of pension funds ranging from that of the International Harvester company to that of the University of Chicago, which have rules authorizing the reduction of pensions if the funds become insufficient. The Episcopal commission considers a pension a sacred obligation, because the pensioner is helpless, and says that rules for reducing pensions are unnecessary if proper study and the proper financial arrangements have preceded its creation. Incidentally the report discloses that 10 per cent. of all the Episcopal clergymen were formerly ministers in other churches.

CHOICE OF LIND
In selecting former Lieutenant-Governor John Lind of Wisconsin to be the personal representative of the administration in Mexico, the president seems to have made a good choice. Judging from the reports of conditions here, it seems that prudence, tact and foresight are the most essential qualities in one who would represent America even semi-officially, and these qualities Mr. Lind is supposed to possess. He has had experience in public life for a period extending over twenty years and throughout that period he has demonstrated that he was able to keep the confidence of a great many people without resorting to pyrotechnical displays. He has always acted with deliberation and calmness and in this respect he promises to represent the administration fully. He will very probably be made ambassador on the assumption of diplomatic relations with Mexico—if he happens to be alive.

The president is worthy of admiration for the consistency with which he has adhered to his first attitude and the calmness with which he makes his plans despite the pressure that is being brought to bear on him on all sides and the harsh criticism with which his attitude is regarded in many quarters. What many call his "obstinacy" may not produce harmony at home, but eventually it must be productive of good in Mexico. Recognition of Huerta is recognition of crime, and the president is making a fine stand for abstract justice and principle. His action may arouse a storm of criticism today, but he will receive the thanks of posterity. If Mr. Taft had heeded the advice of the extremists who urged intervention at the time of the last great insurrection, the vexatious Mexican question would be even more muddled now than it is and we would have dearly realized the value of patience and moderation in dealing with such a momentous problem.

What the policy of Mr. Lind will be can only be guessed at just now, but probably he will try to bring about the mediation which President Wilson desires. As this plan includes the resignation of Huerta there is not much chance of its being accepted, but, if persisted in, it will eventually have the result of gaining concessions from both sides and promoting a mutual understanding. What is most needed is the definite declaration of a future line of action and the day of this is not far distant. It is a time for calm judgment and the president seems to be firm in his conviction of his national duty. He should be supported by all fair-minded men.

IMPROVING THE CITIZENSHIP
That high school teachers of social science and history have the best opportunity ever offered to improve the citizenship of the land, was declared recently by Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones, of the United States bureau of education. He believes that the 1,300,000 boys and girls now in American high schools form the largest group of persons anywhere in the world who can be guided in acquiring the "social point of view" by means of the subjects of social science and history taught in the modern way. According to the distinguished educationalist: "Good citizenship should be the direct aim of the high school courses in social science and history. Good citizenship is the test that must be applied to every topic in these courses. Facts, conditions, theories, activities which do not contribute directly to the appreciation of methods of human betterment have no claim on the time of high school pupils."

Dr. Jones points out that under this test civics must not be merely a study of government machinery, but a study of all manner of social efforts to improve mankind. Every pupil should know of course, how the president of the United States is elected; but he should also understand the duties of the health officer in his community. It is the things near at hand and socially fundamental that should be taught first of all. Comparatively few persons have any need of knowledge of congressional procedure, but every citizen should know what are the chances of employment of the average man.

Proposed topics in this newer high school civics are: Community health, housing and home, pure food, public recreation, good roads, parcel post and postal savings, community education, poverty and the care of the poor, crime and reform, family income, savings banks and life insurance, human and material resources of the community, human rights versus property rights, impulsive action of mobs and the selfish conservation of tradition, public utilities, like street-car lines, telephones, and light and water plants.

This seems to be a very ambitious program, too extensive to be practical, but according to Dr. Jones: "The purpose is not to give the pupil an exhaustive knowledge of any of these subjects, but to give him a clue to the significance of these things to himself and to the community, and to make him want to know more about the conditions under which he lives. It is to help him to think critically and, if possible, to live civically."

EVENING SCHOOL TEACHERS
Judging from the interview given by the superintendent of schools relative to the coming examinations for evening school teachers, it seems that future appointments on the teaching staff of such schools will be made strictly on merit and only after an examination that shall be a fair test of ability. Better still, it looks as though when the new rules are in operation, there will be absolute fairness in making appointments without any recourse to special privilege. In all these particulars the rule promises to work for good—the good of the teachers as a body and the good of the pupils which is of primary importance.

As the evening schools have been conducted in the past there has been a regrettable tendency to regard a position on the teaching staff as a reward for political favor. Probably in most cases the result was not derogatory to the standard of efficiency or discipline, but the principle of the matter was decidedly bad. When a member of the school board paid a political debt by an appointment to the teaching staff of the evening schools he was liable to forget that his first consideration was the interest of those who were unfortunate in not being able to go to the day school and who were ambitious enough to aspire to a higher education under difficulties.

The evening schools of a city are very important and they should be conducted on strictly scientific lines. The teachers need not necessarily be brilliant scholars or advanced educationists but they ought to be intelligent and educated enough to get good results, and tactful enough to preserve discipline. An open and fair examination of a sufficiently high standard to test ability ought to result in a competent teaching staff. If examinations and appointments are conducted as the rule intends, there can be no grounds for complaint. The schools and the children are a vastly more important consideration than the selfish good of those who formerly held the positions through political or social favor.

PEACE
Like rain falling on the parched earth is the message of peace from the warring factions of the Balkan states. The whole world has deplored the narrow racial hatred and sordid greed underlying the long drawn controversy and its people will fervently hope that the fires of war have been quenched forever even to the embers. Bravely the little states leagued against the common enemy. Full of fine courage and lofty idealism were their first valorous deeds. Bitter was the conflict and heavy the price of victory. But when the message of internal disorder followed the glory of unselfish victory, civilization already sick of the needlessly prolonged struggle, turned away with horror. And well might the world shudder for there have been revelations of these late battles between those who should have been brothers, that are unworthy of the Turk. Greece has gained in the world's estimation because of the last war and Bulgaria has lost. But in charity to all it is well to remember that it was a time of terrible intensity and deadly hate. It was a time when all that is primitive and bestial in the nature of man asserts itself. Let us hope that with the peace that follows war, the pain that follows loss, the tears that follow triumph, feelings that were as a drawn bow will relax and the voice of the God of humanity will be heard above the shouts of triumph and the walling of the women of Greece, Serbia, Bulgaria and Montenegro. It will be the duty of many to forgive if they cannot forget and the world must turn one of the blackest pages of the book of time.

GOLDENROD
The most generous flower of all flowers is here to tell us that though the calendar shows early August, the wealth of the autumn is only a little way ahead. Botany may pompously call this flower "an asteraceous plant of the genus solidago" but to those of us who love flowers better than we know them, it shall always be the plain goldenrod. Spring may call forth many a pink, white and blue blossom in shady wood or fragrant marsh and summer may scatter milky ways of daisies through field and fallow. All their glorious surprises are pale beside the limitless wealth of the fall. The few raffish spikes that we now see dimly asserting their right to herald the treasure to come are a promise. When a scarlet leaf shows on the maple top and the smell of ripe apples is in the air, some morning breeze will blow a filmy autumn mist away and reveal the boundless treasure of the goldenrod like fragrant dust falling from the stars or pluming feathers from the wings of the angels.

THE DEVIL ON VACATIONS
I changed to meet the devil on a pleasant summer day. And I tried to hurry by him, but he promptly blocked my way. Though I didn't seek this meeting, since it really had to be, I was in a hurry to get away from him. "Twas a chance to see a demon that for years had troubled me."

"Say," said I into the devil, "you must have been a devil for a long time. In the red hot months of summer, with the ministers away, while the parsons take vacations and desert the wicked mob. To go seeking recreation, you are always on the job."

"Will you give me your opinion?" Should a person take a rest? You who never seem to take one ought to know which way is best. If he stayed right by his people don't you think beyond a doubt? You have less chance in the battle and the right would throw you out."

"O, you foolish, silly mortal," said the devil with a smile. "If I had my way the parsons would stay working all the while. The weakness of the devil," he said this with a sob. "He gets no recreation, he is always on the job."

"But the parson goes off fishing, he goes out among the trees, he goes back to Mother Nature and the Sunshine and the breeze: He rests his tired muscles and builds up his weary brain. And he's fit to overthrow me when he makes the fight again."

"So be glad your parson's resting and rejoices that he's at play, And be sorry for the devil, who can never get away. If the parson never rested, never sought the lake or sea, But always toiled and labored, what a cinch 'twould be for me!"—Edgar A. Guest in Detroit Free Press.

Susan P. O. Deer Isle, Me.—"My child, when two and a half years old, had several very bad sores as the result of a rash that did not properly break out. Her face and scalp were principally affected. It began with a small fever with the skin itched around it. Sometimes several sores would run together making one large open sore. Some of the sores were larger than a silver dollar. The trouble was very disfiguring and troublesome, affecting the general health of the child. I used to cut her hair off where the sores came, in order to treat them."

"I tried—and without effect. Then I washed the sores with Cuticura Soap and then applied the Cuticura Ointment, doing this morning and night. The improvement was very marked in a short time and a complete cure was effected in a few weeks." (Signed) Mrs. Frank Lukins, Nov. 3, 1912.

Soothing Medicine
Boston Post: The seizure of a lot of alleged "soothing medicine" for teething babies by the federal authorities in this city the other day should help to open the eyes of all parents to the wisdom of knowing just what their children are being given. This stuff purported to contain 10 per cent. of alcohol and a quarter grain of opium to each ounce, but the officers say that it held more.

PINEBURST PARK
Scene of Great Activity Yesterday Afternoon and Evening—Many Present from This City and Boston

The first annual picnic under the auspices of the park-keepers of St. Andrew's church and the campers at Pinehurst was held yesterday afternoon and evening at Pinehurst park, Billerica, and the affair was a great success. Nearly 400 people, including a large number from this city and Boston were present and enjoyed the entertainment.

Rev. E. J. Cornell, O. M. L. pastor of St. Andrew's church, had supplied the children of the parish with tickets, which included transportation to and from the grounds and admission to the park, and over 200 of the youngsters journeyed to the grounds to take part in the sports and other events.

Several booths containing dainties and refreshments were erected around the park and all reported a thriving business during the afternoon and evening. Dancing was enjoyed to music by Broderick's orchestra from 2 o'clock until 11:30 o'clock and a large number of the picknickers enjoyed themselves in this way.

A baseball game between the Tigers of North Billerica and Pollard's clerks of this city had been arranged but for some unknown reason the latter team did not put in an appearance at the grounds and it was necessary for the team representing St. Catherine's church of Charlestown to don their uniforms and line up against the famous Billerica team. A large, stirring cup, valuably inscribed, had been donated to be given to the winning team and both teams went onto the field anxious to "cop" the prize. The team from Charlestown looked like a winner at the start, but Henry Sullivan's boys came to the fore during the latter part of the game and after the nine innings had been played they were declared the winners by the score of 11 to 6.

A list of sports was run off and the following were declared the winners: Shoe race, Howard Conway; three-legged race, Howard Conway and Charles O'Brien; 100 yard dash for girls, Mabel Sullivan. Suitable prizes were awarded to the winners of all events.

Early in the evening a basket lunch was partaken of under the pine trees and those who had not carried their lunch were supplied at the booths for a very small sum. After satisfying their appetites an entertainment was furnished in the pavilion at the park.

The affair was in charge of a zealous committee headed by Mrs. John F. Brady and much credit is due her for the brilliant success of everything connected with the day's outing. The booths were in charge of Mrs. Dennis J. Dewire and the Misses Mary Holly and Mary Higgins.

SPREAD OF TEMPERANCE
In British Isles, Says Sir Thomas Barlow

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The remarkable spread of temperance in the British Isles in every rank of society was referred to by Sir Thomas Barlow, president of the International Medical Congress, in a speech delivered to several hundred doctors of various nationalities at a breakfast given today in their honor by the National Temperance League in the Grafton galleries.

Sir Thomas said a great improvement in this respect had taken place in the army and navy, where the young officers were setting a good example to their men. The use of alcohol in hospitals and by medical men generally had greatly decreased. The president made an appeal to the doctors present to endeavor to check the consumption of medicated wines, all of which he said were mischievous.

Master Finds All Sums Received in Lawrence Were Mingled in One Common Fund

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The individual responsibility of the labor leaders, who handled the Lawrence textile strikers' fund during the early days of 1912 was fixed today by Winfield S. Stoum, master, in the case of the attorneys general against Joseph A. Bedard and other members of the Lawrence strike committee. Mr. Stoum's report was made in compliance with an order by Judge Bailey of the supreme court that the master find what portion of the funds received were mingled with funds contributed for other purposes and also for what proportion of the fund each of the respondents should be responsible. The master finds that all sums received were mingled in one common fund, for which Joseph A. Bedard, Joseph Shashen, William Yates and William Trautman were each responsible. He further finds that Shashen, Bedard and Trautman are personally responsible for the expenditure of $18,695 and that Yates sent a check for $3090 to Thomas Powers of Providence and another for $3819 to Vincent St. John, a national officer of the I. CHILDREN ENTERTAINED

Boys and Girls From the Playgrounds Guests of Manager Carroll at Merrimack Square Theatre. The little "kiddos" who frequent the various public playgrounds of the city, had the time of their lives this afternoon, when they were entertained by Manager Carroll of the Merrimack Square theatre.

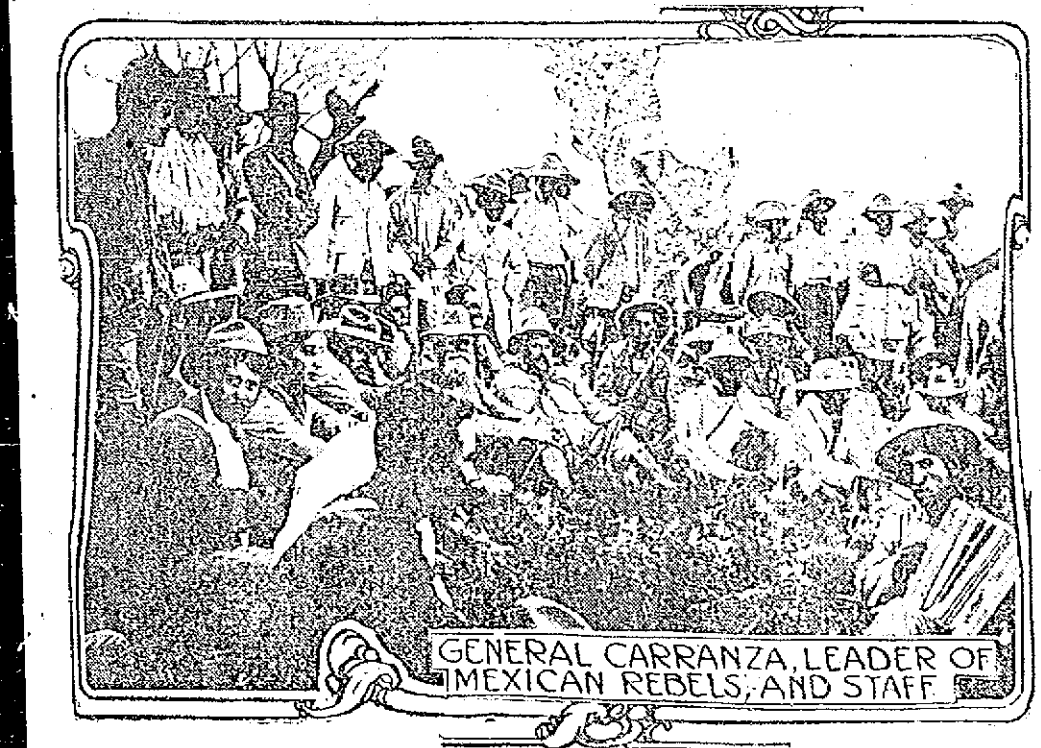

The little ones, about equally divided, boys and girls, numbering over 100, headed by the general supervisor, Patrick Reynolds, flocked into the theatre at 2:30 o'clock, and were given seats in the orchestra, circle, and balcony. A special program had been arranged for them, and it is fair to say each number was well appreciated, especially the "movies," which were of a nature to please the youngsters. The supervisors and assistants of the different playgrounds were present to keep tabs on the children. All in all a pleasant afternoon was spent, and the boys and girls are very grateful to Manager Carroll.

MEXICAN SITUATION GRAVE—HUERTA REGIME THREATENS TO REBUFF LIND ON MISSION OF PEACE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The American government last night was confronted by what official Washington regarded as the most delicate situation in its relations with Mexico that has yet developed since armed revolution disturbed the peace of the southern republic. The threatened rebuff from the Huerta administration to the mission of the Hon. John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson en route to Mexico City to expand the hopes of the United States for a suspension of hostilities and an orderly constitutional election in Mexico, drew from Senator Bacon, chairman of the foreign relations committee, a declaration that the present situation was the gravest in years, much graver than that which confronted the Cuban question was here.

The president realizes the gravity of the situation, and manifested during the day his displeasure at the attitude of some members of the minority party in congress, telling callers that he believed certain republicans were making it difficult for him to handle the situation in a peaceful manner. On this account Mr. Wilson justified last night, the strong and emphatic language of Senator Bacon, who, during the debate in the senate on the resolution of Senator Clark of Wyoming, republican, demanding a general investigation of Mexican affairs, had referred to the resolution as openly "disrespectful" and "outing in the face of the president," while the latter was endeavoring to put into effect a peace policy. The resolution was finally forced off the day's calendar.

President Wilson was unmoved by advice from Mexico depicting the Huerta government as inimical to Mr. Lind's mission. He let it be known

HELPING TO THROW MANY OUT OF WORK

Absence of Material Needed for SHirts and Hobbies Necessitates Fewer Workers in Cloth Mills

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 8.—The current styles in feminine apparel, deplorable as they may be to the average observant man, are helping to throw many employees in the cloth mills of New Bedford out of work.

The narrow bottom skirts that are this season the vogue have cut down the amount of cloth purchased by the suit and cloak factories in a great degree, which means a smaller amount of goods to be manufactured by the

Will be Made Known as Soon as Envoy Lind Arrives—Governments Follow Peace Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Notwithstanding the unfavorable attitude of the Huerta government toward the mission of John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson the administration here intends to follow out its program of peace toward Mexico to the letter and hopes to gain the support of public opinion throughout the world by making known each step in the plans to the foreign governments. It was announced late this afternoon, as soon as Mr. Lind advised the state department of his arrival in Mexico City there will be made public in Washington and in the Mexican capital simultaneously the proposal which the United States offers as marking the pathway to peace. The proposals will be transmitted as a matter of information to the diplomatic corps here for the other governments of the world.

OPEN AIR MEETING

Local Mills and the consequent curtailment in the number of employees. In the past three years it is estimated that the circumference of women's skirts has been cut down by about two yards. The effect has been pleasing enough, from an observer's viewpoint, but the payrolls at the mills have been slashed. The output of cloth from New Bedford mills at present is very slack, and the trend of styles in skirts is partly to be blamed for an ill wind that doesn't wait for a man to blow it. However, but the chief trouble is that the wind is blowing away from New Bedford. While the orders for cloth have been cut down, the orders for fancy hosiery have gone up. But they don't happen to manufacture silk stockings in New Bedford, and the boom in this sort of hosiery isn't filling any dinner pails in this city.

In the meantime hundreds of idle employees of the mills are waiting for the wind to blow the other way.

CLOSE OF KNIGHTS CONVENTION

Reception and Ball Tendered
Delegates -- Next Convention
Will be Held in St. Paul

BOSTON, Aug. 5.—No more brilliant climax could have been arranged for the supreme convention of the Knights of Columbus than the grand reception and ball which was tendered the delegates in the ballroom of the Hotel Somerset last evening. There were present in addition to the delegates all of the members of the local committees. The party numbered about 800 couples.

State Deputy Louis Watson was congratulated on every side during the evening, as was also Hon. W. T. A. Fitzgerald, who was the chairman in charge of this portion of the convention entertainment.

From 8 until 9 there was an orchestral concert, which was followed by a grand march. The march was led by Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty, escorted Mrs. Louis Watson, and they were followed by the state deputy, Mr. Watson, escorted Mrs. Flaherty, George H. McMahon, escorted Mrs. W. T. A. After the selection of St. Paul, Minn., as the next city in which to hold their annual supreme council, the Knights of Columbus adjourned their meetings yesterday afternoon following the most successful annual gathering they have ever held. From every side came words of praise for the manner in which the Boston councils had entertained the visitors, and in an extended resolution words of commendation were spread on the records in appreciation of the events that were held in this city the past four or five days.

Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty of Philadelphia, in the closing minutes of the convention, took occasion to add his personal tribute and he said that in all the years that he had been able to be present at the annual meetings of the supreme council he could not remember one that was more successful than the one just closed.

The delegates assembled at 10 yesterday forenoon. One of the first acts of the convention was that the delegates should sit without recess until all the work had been cleared up.

BIG GAMBLING LOSSES

Szchenyis May Face
a Divorce

COUNTESS SZCHENYI, NEE GLADYS VANDERBILT, ANGRY

Reported the Count Has Lost Millions Through Speculation, Gambling and Extravagant Living

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Persistent rumors that will not down are current here that Countess Szchenyi, formerly Gladys Vanderbilt, youngest daughter of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, will institute divorce proceedings against her husband, the count, in the immediate future.

From persons close to both the count and countess it is learned that the latter is exceedingly wrathful at the count's enormous gambling losses. In May the count's name was mentioned in connection with bankruptcy proceedings against three of the highest nobles in Hungary. At that time it was alleged that Count Szchenyi was involved in the same transactions. When his wife learned of his losses, which at that time were estimated at $1,000,000, she was angry. The couple left Hungary and rumors of a disagreement were rife, but were promptly denied.

In June and on further investigation the amount of the count's alleged losses through speculation, gambling and extravagant living were thought to be in reality nearer $2,000,000. Immediately rumors of divorce were again heard, but once more promptly denied, particularly by a New York lawyer who handles all the Vanderbilts private and personal affairs.

Now it is said that on a full realization of his conduct the countess will not listen to her husband's plea for mercy. She is obdurate to all his pleadings and insists on an immediate separation, and without leaving him any income from the Vanderbilt fortune. It is thought the papers will be filed within a day or two.

KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Car Plunged Over Bank
—Woburn Man Dead

WOBURN, Aug. 5.—William J. Carroll of this city died at the Choate hospital last night as a result of injuries received when his automobile shot down a 15 foot embankment on the state road in Burlington. He suffered a fractured skull and three ribs, one of which fractured his left lung.

His two companions, Ferdinand Harkins, 40, a member of the National Polo league, and Joseph Breslin, 25, also of Woburn, were thrown from the car, but miraculously escaped injury.

The party was on its way to Pinehurst park, a pleasure resort in Billerica. At a point on West street, north of Sears road the automobile took a curve, and as it did its occupants saw a market wagon approaching.

Carroll turned out to avoid the wagon and his car slewed into the railing, burst it open and raced through into the field beyond. Directly behind the railing was a 12-foot embankment, down which the car plunged until it struck a tree.

It had less sufficient of its momentum so that it did not turn turtle, but turned onto one side after being thrown about a dozen feet.

Its occupants were stunned for an instant, but two of them revived quickly, and the Woburn authorities were telephoned for and an ambulance was sent for Mr. Carroll. The car was left in the field.

TRADES AND LABOR

Council Held Enthusiastic Meeting—Plans Well Under Way for Labor Day

The regular meeting of the members of the Trades and Labor council was held last night with a large number of members present. The delegates reported that preparations for Labor day are well under way and it is expected that the organizations will turn out in full numbers.

Credentials were received and accepted from the bargees, printing pressmen, street railway, division 250, and carpenters' union, 148. It was voted to have the organizations draw for positions in line at the next meeting of the council.

After the business Organizer Frank Young of the International Machinery union, addressed the delegates at some length on the general condition of labor throughout the country. The meeting adjourned at a late hour, the next meeting to be held Thursday evening, Aug. 21.

UNCLE JOE CANNON TO SETTLE CHINESE-JAPANESE TROUBLE

AMOY, China, Aug. 5.—An early settlement is considered probable of the differences between the Chinese and Japanese in regard to the adjustment of the recent clan dispute in this city during which a number of Formosans were killed. The negotiations, however, are making slow progress. The garrison of this city has been reinforced by 700 men from the city of Chang-Chow.

Talks Politics With a Reporter—Nit

Former Speaker of the House Joseph G. Cannon stopped off for a few minutes at Springfield Wednesday, and a reporter for The Union succeeded in procuring the following very important interview:

"What do you think of the democratic administration, Mr. Cannon, and the tariff revision as proposed by President Wilson?"

"I am no prophet," replied Mr. Cannon, "neither am I the son of a prophet, therefore I cannot say."

"Do you think we will have war with Mexico and if so what will be the outcome?"

"It's a long time since I have been down in Mexico," he replied, "and of course am unfamiliar with the natives on that account."

"Will democracy in your opinion remedy conditions throughout the country?" interrogated the reporter.

"Not being a democrat I couldn't say as to that," he responded.

"What do you think of the present situation in Washington and the many resignations in national circles?"

"I am no longer in politics," replied the former chief of the house, "and am therefore unqualified to speak."

POOR FIELDING LOSES BOTH GAMES

Halstein the Only Redeeming
Feature in the Lowell Infield—
Henderson Allows But 2 Hits

Miserable fielding by the Lowell infield lost them two games yesterday when the Shoemakers took part in the other end of a double header at Spaulding park. Halstein was the only man in the infield who played ball. He was the principal offender with his wild pegs to the plate, although Aubrey was very poor on several grounds. Brockton won both by the scores of 7 to 5 and 3 to 2.

Belger pitched the first game and was opposed by "Season's" Shears. The local twirler was continually in a hole owing to the ragged fielding of his teammates and, all things considered, pitched a good game. Shears was not in form and was found for ten hits.

The second game was a heart-breaker for Henderson, who was on the mound for Lowell, allowing but two hits but coming out on the short end of a 3 to 2 score. The local slabster passed two men, but should have scored a snoutout over his opponents. Dee was again the big factor in the loss of the game.

Lowell scored one in the first inning and it looked as though they were going to clean up the second contest. Clemens walked and took second on a wild pitch. Aubrey sacrificed him, to third and he came home on DeGroot's single to center. Magee was safe when Kennedy dropped his grounder and Halstein walked. Miller hit to McMahon who threw to the plate, getting DeGroot, and Daly closed the session by fanning.

Lowell got another in the third after Brockton had put one across in, her half on a pass, a sacrifice, an error by Dee and a single. Lowell's run was earned, Magee and Miller both cracking out long doubles to the left field fence.

The crash came in the sixth. Maloney got a pass. Dowd beat out a bunt and two men were on. McMahon sacrificed them along. Howard scored Maloney with a sacrifice fly to right. Daly threw to Dee when Dowd ran for third and Dee allowed the ball to fall into the outfield while Dowd came home with the winning run. Both teams failed to tally in the next inning. The second game was one of seven innings. The score:

THE AMERICAN BANKERS

To Hold Conference on Currency Bill

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the Chase National bank directors, acting as chairman of the currency committee of the American Bankers' association, has called a meeting of the bankers of the country for action on the currency bill. It promises to be the most important conference the association has ever had. The calling of the conference is nominally made dependent upon whether or not the democratic caucus of the house of representatives on August 11 decides to proceed with the present bill. It is practically assured, however, that the conference will be held, as bankers feel certain that the caucus will support the administration measure.

A. BARTON HEPBURN

DIAMOND DAZZLES

It's pretty tough to only allow two hits and pass but two men and then lose your game, but this is what happened to Henderson yesterday. What Henne said to Dee after his fatal mis-play in the second game would not look well in print. Dee looked as though he thought it was a joke until Henderson took it upon himself to state just what brand of a ball player he considered Dee to be.

Three double plays in the second game shows that the locals can play fast ball at times. When this slump wears off the club ought to be near enough the top to pull down the lead. Clemens is still stinging the ball. The majority of this outfielder's hits are dropped right over the heads of the infield or right at their feet. Pete can surely cover ground on a bunt.

That one hand stab of Kennedy's in the fourth inning of the first game was a beauty. Belger was tearing for the sack as hard as he could dig but the ball stuck in the first baseman's glove. The ball, if it had not been pulled down, would have gone to the fence in right field.

Billy McMahon was right on his job yesterday and gave an exhibition of his league fielding as well as batting. McMahon's work would have given any ball park in the country. The local boy has as classy a whip as there is in the league.

Daly is falling off on his backstop work. He is the same hard playing catcher but he acts as though he was fired. Manager Pieper wants to tuck as many games away as possible but although Thomas is a good performer he is not in Daly's class.

The race is still anybody's. Portland hovers near us and Worcester is only a half game behind the leaders. Manager Pieper is trying to figure out how he can strengthen his team so as to make the pennant a cinch. His efforts so far have met with little success.

Japan Advances in Aviation
Japan is making important strides in aviation. Recently a number of young military officers trained by the army aviation corps made a series of successful inter-provincial flights, covering a distance of 60 miles, and qualified themselves as experts. The aviation corps has a spacious open ground at Tokorozawa, near Tokyo, where a group of student aviators is being trained by Capt. Tokuzawa. These military aviators make occasional excursions to the city of Tokyo, the people of which climb up to house-tops to see the "man-birds" fly. The aeroplanes in use are Japanese biplanes, devised by Capt. Tokuzawa and a number of French machines.
The naval aviators also have been active recently. They paid a surprise visit to Yokohama and Tokyo from the naval station at Yokosuka. In one of these trips Lieut. Yamada covered a distance of 120 miles in two hours and ten minutes. The naval aviators are now planning to exhibit their craft before the emperor, who is recuperating at Hamama, a seaside resort, from his recent illness.
Aside from army and navy aviators, Japan has a number of private aeronauts, who are making successful flights at different points in the empire.

Returning With Cadets
From Foreign Cruise

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—With 25 midshipmen of the first and third classes aboard, the battleship Illinois reported to the navy department today that she had left Funchal, Madeira, on the last leg of her foreign cruise. The vessel will land the future admirals at Annapolis on Aug. 23.
Advices from the vessel declare the midshipmen were entertained royally at the various ports at which the warship touched and that the cruise had been a highly profitable one for the classmen.
The cadets will be given a month's leave of absence when they return to Annapolis.

RITCHIE TO GET $15,000 GUARANTEE FOR GIVING FREDDY WELSH CHANCE AT TITLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—It is the general opinion in sporting circles that Willie Ritchie, the lightweight champion, played safe when he took on Freddy Welsh for a twenty-round battle at Vernon, this state, for Labor Day. Since Welsh got the decision over Ritchie in an argument of the same length two years ago Ritchie has progressed wonderfully in the fighting game, defeating Ad Wolgast, on the latter's foul and winning the championship. Ritchie looks the better man now. He finally closed with the terms of Promoter Hugh Springer of the Brighthouse arena at Vancouver, B. C., for a twenty-round bout with Welsh on Sept. 1. The champion is to receive 50 per cent. of the gross receipts, with a guarantee of $15,000 and 50 per cent. of the moving pictures. The weight is understood to be 133 pounds ringside, although this point has not been decided upon definitely. As Welsh has agreed to any weight that Ritchie demands, there is no hitch expected in the matter.

SENATOR JOHNSTON DIED TODAY

His Death Weakens Democratic Majority on the Administration Tariff Bill in the Senate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Senator Johnston of Birmingham, Ala., died at his apartments here early today.

Senator Johnston had not been able to attend sessions of the senate for a week. He had been confined to his apartment most of the time and a few days ago pneumonia developed. The senator's son, Forney Johnston, was summoned last night from Birmingham but it was believed then that the senator was not in any immediate danger.

Senator Johnston was seventy years old, had served in the Confederate army, was governor of Alabama for two terms and had been a member of the senate since 1907. He was unanimously elected to succeed the late Senator Pettus and was reelected in 1909.

The death of Senator Johnston weakens the democratic majority on the administration tariff bill in the senate, though party leaders insist there still will be no serious difficulty in passing the measure.

In the democratic caucus it was announced that 45 members had declared they would support the bill on its final passage. At that time Senators Dandell and Thornton of Louisiana were the only ones to declare they would vote against the bill, their opposition being because of the sugar schedule. On the basis of the caucus alignment democratic leaders figured that the vote on the tariff bill, without defections, would be 45 to 41 for its passage. The death of Senator Johnston leaves the calculation 45 to 41.

It is evident that any western senator who does not strongly favor free sugar might possibly vote against the bill, the democrats had been counting on the vice president to carry the day in case of a tie. Senator Johnston's death, provided his seat is not filled before the vote on the tariff bill, removes the vice president from the range of possibilities on any strict alignment. Should one vote be lost to the democrats on the basis of 60 forecasts and no member of the minority come to their aid the vote would stand 48 to 47 against the bill.

The senate paid tribute to Senator Johnston's memory through resolutions and ordered an adjournment of today's session.

Vice President Marshall appointed the following committee to represent the senate at the funeral in Birmingham: Senators Bankhead, Overman, Bacon, Hitchcock, Clarke, Vardaman, Johnson, Swanson, Smith of South Carolina, Thornton, Gallinger, Warren, Brinson, Cator, Brady and Kenyon.

The governor, under the new law, may order a special election at once or he may call a special legislative session which might empower him to appoint a senator," said Senator Brinson.

Successor to Senator Johnston

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 8.—"It will be my intention to have Senator Johnston's successor named as speedily as possible," declared Gov. O'Neil of Alabama, today.

He said, however, he would have to make a thorough investigation of the legal phases of the case before taking action to fill the senatorial vacancy.

When he landed Wood got to the nearest telephone and called up Washington to ask that his mechanics be sent to Galthersburg to put his engine in condition to resume his flight to Fort Meyer, where he was to be landed, demonstrate the efficiency of his monoplane for war purposes before a number of army officers and then begin a return flight to New York.

To Resume Flight

The train Wood was riding did not arrive in Washington until 9:30 o'clock. Wood's assistants when they learned of his mishap hurried on to Galthersburg to get his plane in condition to resume the flight.

When Wood passed Jersey City he was about 10 miles behind the train, railroad officials said. Then Wood got ahead and started his land, passing the train 35 minutes before the train reached there. From Baltimore to Washington his route was in a southwesterly direction, over a level country, but he flew too far to the west.

Gave Up Plans

The relief party, traveling in autos over rough roads, found Wood with his monoplane in Diamond's field just before noon. After the mechanics had looked over Wood's engine he gave up all plans for making a return flight to New York today, but hoped to continue to Fort Meyer.

The American records for endurance, sustained flight and non-stop flying all are held by Lieut. Thomas Dew Milling, U. S. A., whose official figures are 500 miles from Texas City, Texas, to San Antonio, Tex., in three hours and 10 minutes. He remained in the air flying for one hour and 17 minutes after reaching San Antonio, making his endurance figures four hours and 27 minutes.

ASSIST IN MOVING CROPS

Treasury Prepared to Deposit $100,000,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—At a conference today between treasury officials and bankers of the central west regarding the distribution of government deposits to assist in moving the crops, Assistant Secretary John S. Williams declared the treasury was prepared to deposit $100,000,000 if necessary. The original plan called for $50,000,000. The exact amount of the government deposits will be determined after the facts presented by the bankers have been analyzed.

The bankers of Chicago and Indianapolis were not prepared to say whether the deposits would be needed by them but they may be glad to receive a portion of the funds. Generally the governments proposition to put out the money was welcomed. Dr. Williams requested $25,000,000.

Mr. Williams informed the bankers that an deposit to be secured by state and other bonds exclusive of government bonds and by commercial paper the treasury department probably would insist on an additional security of ten per cent. in United States bonds.

The Chicago team announced the purchase of Catcher Hargrave of the Terre Haute Central league club.

FINANCIAL PROBLEM

That Embarrasses a Great Many Cities

FLOATING BONDS BECOMING A SERIOUS MATTER

Banks Unwilling to Purchase Bonds at Reasonable Rates of Interest—Sale of Bonds to Citizens

In a recent issue of the Municipal Journal there appeared an article captioned "A Serious Financial Problem," and dealing with the floating of bonds by cities. It was stated that a great many cities finding it impossible to float 4 1/2 per cent. bonds, are issuing bonds in small denominations and selling them to their citizens in any quantity desired.

The following is taken from the article in question:

The difficulty which a great many cities, all over that part of the country east of the Mississippi at least, are finding in floating bonds is becoming a serious matter, and one which is causing considerable embarrassment in some cases. In Waterbury, Conn., for instance, the city is under contract to make monthly payments of $15,000 to $25,000 for work upon a dam contracted for some time ago, while other expenditures for the water department, police and fire departments and for school houses are very necessary. To meet these expenditures $800,000 worth of bonds have been authorized, but as the city is required by law to sell no bonds at more than 4 1/2 per cent. interest, it has been found impossible to float these bonds. Toledo, Ohio, also has found it impossible to find a market for 4 1/2 per cent. bonds, and the finance committee believes that 5 per cent. or more will be necessary to attract investors, and in the meantime street improvements and water works improvements must be postponed until $300,000 worth of bonds can be disposed of. Marion County, West Virginia has found it impossible to dispose of $100,000 worth of 5 per cent. bonds except at a sacrifice, and the same is true of 4 1/2 per cent. bonds to the amount of one million dollars, which Cuyahoga County, Ohio, endeavored to sell, following which the county decided to make an effort on a five per cent. basis. An Ohio township failed to get a bidder for $25,000 road improvement securities which commanded 6 1/2 per cent. interest, while a $25,000 issue of Steubenville school bonds were disposed of on a 6 per cent. basis and a small lot of Ohio township school bonds were sold at the same figure.

The lowest interest reported recently on bonds of this nature was 13,500 at 5 per cent. for a county in Ohio. The village of Eastwood, near Syracuse, N. Y., had an offer for $55,000 worth of 5 per cent. bonds at par, but with the understanding that the bankers would receive all bonds immediately and make payments at the rate of not over $10,000 a month, which bid was rejected.

This condition of affairs is undoubtedly due to a large extent to the general condition of the money market, but there would seem to be some other reason why municipal bonds are considered less favorably than some others, whereas they should be among the most reliable and popular of the bonds on the market. Whether this is due to suspicion of the financial methods of some of our cities, or to whatever cause it may be, the fact remains that many if not most of our cities are being confronted with a difficulty in raising funds necessary for making improvements which are in many cases very much needed, and failure to perform which would mean a reduction in the amount of work and consequently no wages for a considerable number of their citizens. The city of Atchison, Kansas, refused to pay bonds for about $25,000 which fell due July 1, offering, however, to exchange for them 30-year 4 per cent. bonds, which proposition naturally has not met with favorable consideration by the creditors. There have been similar instances in connection with other city, county and state bonds, in the past, and this may have something to do with the failure of such bonds to be considered as the most desirable on the market.

In the case of the Atchison bonds, the state auditor, under an old state law has served notice on the treasurer of Atchison that he must levy a special tax on all the property of the city sufficient to raise the amount necessary to pay off the bonds. Possibly if similar laws existed in all the states, investors might have more confidence in municipal bonds.

Several cities, finding banks and other large investors unwilling to purchase bonds at reasonable rates of interest, are floating bonds in small denominations and selling them to their citizens in any quantity desired. Camden, N. J., is selling $50,000 worth of street bonds in this way, these bonds bearing 4 1/2 per cent. interest, and bonds as small as $100 being available. Within a few days $25,000 worth of bond has been sold. Blochington, N. Y., is selling $35,000 worth of 4 1/2 per cent. 14-year bonds in denominations ranging from $100 to $1,000. This board of estimate and apportionment in one morning sold $13,000 worth of bonds, among the purchasers being the firemen's relief and pension fund, but practically all the other purchasers were individual citizens.

This method involves a little more trouble on the part of the city officials and may involve some minor expenses, but with the possible contingency that the public will not purchase all the bonds which it is desired to sell, while banks and other large purchasers would refuse to take the odd lot remaining, but the success which the popular sale of bonds has met with in several cities, where the sale of them has been sufficiently advertised and the procuring of them made so simple that the citizen unpracticed in financial methods feels no hesitation about obtaining them, would suggest this as a plan at least worth trying where the large dealers indicate their refusal to take issues at reasonable rates.

Dryan Announces Exams

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Secretary Bryan's announcement that an examination for diplomatic secretarieships will be held here September 22 is taken to indicate his purpose to continue civil service principles in the state department. Already about 40 candidates have signed their intention of taking the examinations which will be continued by a board designated by the president.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 8.—The Lumbermen's association have decided to close down all plants owned by members and stay closed until the teamsters' strike, which has been going on here for seven weeks, is settled. More than 200 men will be thrown out of employment by this move.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Othine Prescription

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by druggists under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of Othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

COLLAPSED IN STREET

Lowell Man Taken to Hospital in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Aug. 8.—Naupeold Grant, who gave his residence as 12 Arthur avenue, Lowell, was found at the corner of Melvin and Oxford streets, about 3 o'clock last night by Policeman Kilpatrick in such a weakened condition from the ravages of the white plague that he had collapsed on the street. The sad case was reported to the authorities and the stricken man was removed in the ambulance to the Tuberculosis hospital where he will be cared for. He was in such a weakened condition that little or no facts regarding how he came to be there or as to whether or not he was married could be learned.

REGATTA ON CHARLES

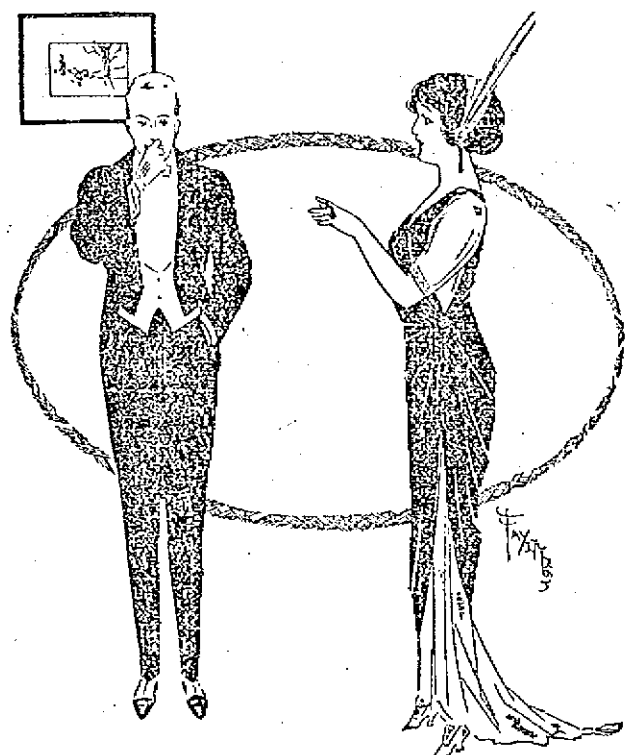

For Amateur Oarsmen--The Winners

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Bright skies and flat water invited fast time when the forty first annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen was opened this afternoon. Competing oarsmen, club coaches and the thousands who lined the Charles river basin looked for the breaking of more than one association record.

The first race for intermediate four-oared crews was not started until two o'clock. On the first attempt to get away the Metropolitan crew rowed into the Dutch four's water. A foul was claimed and all the crews were called back.

Intermediate four-oared shells, 14 mile, with turn, four starters. Won by Duluth Boat Club, Metropolitan B. C., New York, second; Detroit B. C., Detroit, third; Malta B. C., fourth. Time: 7:30.

Senior quarter mile dash, single shells, eight starters. Won by R. Dibble, Don Rowing club of Toronto; E. Butler, Argonaut Boat club, Toronto. Time: 1:34.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?
Pauline—But, dear, wouldn't love in a cottage be rather common place?
Reginald—Well, of course, we could call the shack a bungalow.

LOWELL'S MODERN OPTICAL OFFICE

In every trade, profession or branch of work, there are found a few men who from better fitness, training or education are better prepared to serve you in their line than the multitude of others in the same field.

Optometry requires special ability in both professional and mechanical work and men who are fitted to do both equally well are scarce. Therefore you cannot be too particular in the selection of the man to whom you intrust the care of your eyes.

I am a graduate of the Philadelphia Optical College and have been practicing optometry in Lowell for the past six years. I have over six thousand satisfied patients in this city and surrounding towns. My office in the Sun Building is equipped with the latest and most modern instruments for eye examination. I use the Cross system, the Hirschmutter and the latest Zeiss optometer and phorometer. Instruments that make eye examination exact.

No charge for examination. Broken lenses duplicated while you wait. Lowest prices.
